SINGLE UNEMPLOYED TRANSIENTS IN B.C. TO BE GIVEN RELIEF

Federal Labor Minister Announces Temporary Joint Dominion-Provincial Agreement to Be Effective Until Plans for Works Programme Are Worked Out by the Province

VANCOUVER, Nov. 18 (P).—All single unemployed transients now in British Columbia will be given temporary relief as the result of a joint agreement between the Provincial and Dominion Governments, it was announced tonight by Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Minister of Labor, as he left for the East by train.

The minister said the relief would be granted until plans, now being prepared by the Provincial Government to provide work for the men, had been completed. The works programme would be announced by the Provincial Government later, Rogers said.

The agreement, which was reached between Mr. Rogers and Hon. George Pearson, Provincial Minister of Labor, set forth that the present requirements regarding a man's length of residence in the province be dropped and all men, including certain single unemployed war veterans whose cases had been brought to his attention, would be given relief, the Dominion minister said.

The men, however, must prove they had been in the province prior to November 15. This, Rogers said, was to discourage a further exodus of unemployed to British Columbia.

INCLUDED IN SCHEME
All single unemployed men in Vancouver who recently ran afoul of the law in a flower-selling campaign and are now at liberty on their own recognizance, pending court trials, would be included in the scheme.

Mr. Rogers said he interviewed delegates of the Single Unemployed Protective Association here today and had asked their co-operation in the scheme. They had received it favorably, he said.

About 250 single unemployed men were given relief at the Provincial relief depot here today, apparently the start of the new agreement between the Provincial and Dominion Governments.

APPOINTMENTS ARE NUMEROUS

Hungarian Doctor Will Have Busy Monday Fighting Nine Duels

BUDAPEST, Nov. 18 (P).—Dr. Franz Sargass spent a strenuous twelve hours today getting ready for his nine duels scheduled for Monday.

The strict Hungarian code of honor, because of the unprecedented number of simultaneous challenges, was broken in his case to allow postponement of the duels, originally scheduled for today.

SETTLING HIS AFFAIRS
The twenty-eight-year-old doctor spent several hours this morning with his lawyer settling his own affairs and those of his wife, whose honor he charged was impugned as well as his own by the nine men he challenged.

After taking care of legal matters which might arise if he should lose, Dr. Sargass spent several perplexing hours practicing in the club for the duels. He was helped by a score of his friends, including a number of army officers who gave him all sorts of hints on what to do with the eight-pound cavalry sabre to be used.

NO TIME TO WASTE
He must, under the duelling code, settle each and all of the challenges within one forty-eight-hour period. Each duel must continue until one combatant is wounded or is too exhausted for further fighting. If no wounds are inflicted, a court of honor may then order the duellists to fight to the finish with pistols.

Dr. Sargass' challenges were made against newspapermen, civil servants and a bank manager, who, he charged, "insulted him and married his beautiful wife for money."

A court of honor upheld Dr. Sargass' complaints and decided they justified challenges to duels.

CHANGING HEADGEAR

Barge Blown Ashore and Is Total Loss

After Delivering a Load of Hog Fuel From Port Alberni to the Port Alice Paper Plant, the Barge Dunsyre, in Tow of the Ss. Anyox, Went Adrift When the Towline Parted Just at Dusk Tuesday and Drifted Over Fifty Miles Before She Piled Up Wednesday Morning Near the Entrance to Quatsino Sound.

FUEL BARGE IS TOTAL LOSS ON WEST COAST ROCKS AFTER GALE

Dunsyre Drifts Over Fifty Miles After Towline Parts in Storm

CREW OF THREE ARE SAFE AT LIGHTHOUSE

The fuel barge Dunsyre, formerly a proud sailing craft, is a total loss, pounded to pieces on the rocks off Park Point, a short distance from Kain's Island, at the northwest entrance to Quatsino Sound. She ran ashore early yesterday morning after a drift of over fifty miles following her separation just before dusk Tuesday from the Ss. Anyox, which was towing her from Port Alice to Port Alberni.

What occurred aboard the Dunsyre after the tug and the barge parted company in the southeasterly gale, which snapped the heavy towline Tuesday night, and how the crew got ashore to the lighthouse on Kain's Island will not be learned until the shipwrecked men are brought back to the city.

ARRIVES ON SCENE

The Ss. Salvage King arrived at the scene of the disaster early yesterday from Victoria and went on to anchor in Winter Harbor. She reported the condition of the barge and stated that if the weather moderated sufficiently she would pick up Captain W. Billington, Ray Larkin and Allan Heater, who were aboard the Dunsyre in the long drift through the wild west coast night. If this cannot be done, the men will have to await the arrival of the mail boat or cross the trail from Coal.

Cold Wave And Storms Sweep East

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (P).—The winds of winter swept across much of the United States today and millions shook up the fire against even colder weather.

The Northeastern seaboard shivered in a cold wave. Shipping in the North Atlantic fought chill gales that sharply cut speed. At least four liners—the American, the Grimsby, the LaFayette and the Bremen—had run into such heavy weather it appeared the arrival of each in New York would be delayed by a day.

His Majesty Visits Scenes of Distress In Welsh Domain

Tours, for Seven Hours, Desolate Valleys of Unemployment—Receives Splendid Welcome Everywhere, Even in Most Poverty-Stricken Parts

MERTHYR TYDFIL, Wales, Nov. 18 (P).—The King today saw the grim tragedy of South Wales for himself. For seven hours, with brief stops, he toured those desolate valleys of unemployment, which, like the fingers of a hand, drop down to the sea. He talked with men unemployed for years, with men who found new hope in land settlement even in voluntary schemes which yield only food coupons.

In the quiet of his private railway car the King at dinner tonight discussed his experiences with Sir George Gillett, commissioner for the distressed areas, and Gillett's predecessor, Malcolm Stewart. A SILENT WELCOME. Despite long-drawn poverty, South Wales today gave the King a splendid welcome. At Pontypridd, which lies at the entrance to the Rhondda Valley, great crowds broke the po-

Huge Christmas Dividend Will Be Paid by American Industry

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (P).—A Christmas dividend of more than $500,000,000 for shareholders in North American industry, rivaling 1929 year-end disbursements, was assured today by a rapidly-mounting list of extra and increased payments.

Nearly $70,000,000, including about $21,000,000 in extra payments, was added to the total by some thirty companies. It lifted the figure for more than 130 companies on the year-end rush to approximately $490,000,000. Roughly half of the total came from extra and enlarged payments, as directors dipped into increased 1936 profits to beat the year-end deadline for tax credits under the Federal surtax on undistributed earnings.

Member Advises Commission for Market Inquiry

Proposal Stayed Before Agricultural Committee Of Legislature After Considerable Argument—Marketing Probe Nearing Completion Of Subpoenaed and Other Witnesses

APPOINTMENT of a Royal Commission to take over and extend the vegetable marketing inquiry from the Legislative committee on agriculture was moved before that body last evening, and after being once turned down, the recommendation was laid over for final decision later. George M. Murray, Liberal member for Lillooet, made the move shortly after the inquiry resumed in the evening for its third straight sitting of the day.

URGES TIMBER BE PRESERVED

Forestry Committee Makes Specific Recommendations To Protect Resources

The forestry committee of the Legislature reported to the House yesterday afternoon, when specific suggestions were offered the Legislature for the preservation of the timber resources of the province. The report was made by Captain C. S. Leary, (Kato-Slocan).

The recommendations are made for the purpose of bringing the special attention of the Government by the forestry committee, of important measures advocated by its personnel, and so build up a greater industry with markets covering all species of the forest. Every regard, it is recommended, should be given to a perpetuation of the supply, at the same time encouraging the young native-born citizens to become interested in forestry and forestry industry through forest and university training, so that they will work into the general development of our country through our greatest asset, the forests.

The report commended the Government for the grant for forest protection that had been made. Depletion of the fir forests of the province was lamented, and it was urged that efforts be made to increase the sales of cedar and hemlock.

Regret was expressed that there had been a lapse of interest in the forestry branches as a result of the University of British Columbia having dropped that line of work.

Bee Buzzes Into Marketing Probe But Goes Hungry

BUZZING tirelessly around the committee room, with frequent visits to witnesses on the stand and side trips to the chairman of the committee, and even the Minister of Agriculture, a lone bee had fun with the legislative committee conducting an inquiry into marketing control in its third session last evening. As the committee probed into marketing, the bee haunted fifty-five legislators and witnesses in the room. It kept its probe to itself, though its private investigations appeared to have yielded but little honey.

Joint Approval of Spanish Insurgents' Cause Announced in Communiqué—No Present Change in Neutrality Policies Implied—Austria And Hungary Expected to Follow Suit

Aviators Drop More Bombs On Horror-Stricken Madrid

ROME, Nov. 18 (P).—Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany today formally recognized the Government of the Spanish Fascist insurgent General Francisco Franco. The communiqué, which announced joint approval of Franco's cause did not mention any changes in the nation's neutrality policies in the civil war, but a guarded statement by the acting representative of the Burgos Government at Rome indicated that Franco hoped direct aid would be the next step.

German and Italian approval, said the Burgos envoy, Admiral Antonio Magaz, "will change the 'right of the situation in regard to neutrality as it concerns the position of the Burgos Government and those who have recognized it, and the other member nations of the Non-Intervention Committee." But this latter point will have to be discussed by the committee.

NOT BOLTING FACT
The German recognition announcement was almost identical with the Italian communiqué, but official circles in Berlin intimated the Reich did not intend to bolt the non-intervention pact as a sequel to recognition.

Reasons for the move were cited as Franco's "taking possession of Continued on Page 3, Column 1"

High Wind Takes Life In Alberta

CADOMIN, Alta., Nov. 18 (P).—A terrific gale sweeping down from the Rocky Mountains in this valley point, 165 miles west of Edmonton, today killed Alex Irons, forty, carried parts of buildings for 900 feet, and caused boulders to roll down mountainsides. While there was no official recording instrument, unofficial estimates placed the wind velocity at ninety miles an hour.

Irons was killed when hit by the roof of a poultry house.

The freak storm has been blowing since last night, and tonight there was no sign of a let-up.

OFFICIALS TO BE REINSTATED

House Committee Advises Mayor and Ald. Brown Be Not Disqualified

In the City of Victoria Bill, as reported to the Legislature yesterday afternoon by the private bills committee, it is recommended that the House exonerate Mayor Leeming and Alderman P. R. Brown from any wrongful complicity in the agreement with respect to the original plan to obtain reduction in interest rates by agreement with bondholders in London. They will, if the recommendation of the committee is acted upon, be freed of all responsibility for any penalties which might be imposed resulting from the court injunction order which was obtained, and from all disqualifications that might attach to them under the injunction.

Another recommendation made by the committee has to do with the request for the facilitation of the entering into an agreement for the transfer of the grain elevator at the Outer Wharf to another company, following the non-carrying out of the agreement of the original company. This will, if acted upon by the House, facilitate the negotiations for finding a new purchaser for the plant.

Province Promises Victoria Assistance To Meet Obligations

Although Refunding Scheme Eliminated From City's Private Bill, Another Will Be Presented To Deal With Bond Refunding Matters

REFUNDING provisions of the Victoria City Bill before the Legislature were dropped and assurance was given by the Government that every possible assistance within reason will be given to the council to help the ratepayers until definite arrangements can be made with bondholders following a survey of the city's position that will shortly be undertaken by Toronto debenture holders. Such were the developments yesterday following Mayor David Leeming's appearance before the municipal committee of the Legislature.

Mayor Leeming frankly presented the present position of the city to the committee and declared that the situation was desperate—Victoria must have aid if default was to be avoided.

GLOBE PURCHASES MAIL AND EMPIRE

Toronto Morning Newspaper to Be Merged as Globe and Mail, Starting Monday

TORONTO, Nov. 18 (P).—The Mail and Empire, Toronto morning newspaper, has been purchased by The Globe Printing Company, it was announced tonight. Starting next Monday, it will be issued jointly with The Globe, Toronto's other morning newspaper. The joint publication will be called The Globe and Mail.

C. George McCullagh, who took over ownership control of the ninety-two-year-old Globe on October 14 from W. O. Jaffray, made the announcement. Mr. McCullagh is president and publisher of The Globe. The Globe and Mail will be independent in politics," stated Mr. McCullagh. "It will give general support to governments in power, whether Conservative or Liberal, reserving, however, the fullest liberty to criticize any action of any government which we do not consider to be in the public interest." A new plant for The Globe and Mail will be erected on property acquired from The Mail Printing Company at King and York Streets.

Britain Can Speed Up Rearmament to Pace Of Any Dictatorship

Prime Minister Explains Assertion Misinterpreted By Opposition—Price No Object in Obtaining Security—Electorate Now Convinced

GLASGOW, Nov. 18 (CP-Havas).—Britain can complete its rearmament programme with as much dispatch as any dictatorship, Prime Minister Baldwin declared in a speech here tonight. While devoting the greater part of his address to social and economic questions, the Prime Minister denied an opposition interpretation placed upon his recent assertion in the House of Commons that "democracies" are two years behind dictatorships.

The Prime Minister explained he had only meant it was difficult for a democracy to convince its electorate of the need of something which a dictatorship could decide in a single hour.

TO PROTECT FROM WAR

There was no reason why a democracy could not follow a chosen path with as much assurance as any country, he said.

Emphasizing that the rearmament programme was primarily designed to protect Britain and Europe from war, Mr. Baldwin asserted:

"If we were to describe this broad line of policy, we should say that it was peace at almost any price; but at the same time to be ready that no man might attack them."

The two-year lag to which he referred in the House indicated, he explained, the lapse of time that might follow the Government's realization of the need to rearm and the date of the programme's announcement to the public. He recalled that failure of the Disarmament Conference and vast programme of other countries had caused Britain to abandon its unilateral disarmament policy.

HAD NO MANDATE

"There are people who seem to imagine the Government at that time should have come forward with an extensive rearmament programme," he said. "A direct reversal of policy at that moment could never have been effected. The Government of the day had no mandate."

The Prime Minister said the electorate at that time had discounted the danger which was apparent to the Government heads. Their attention was drawn to it, he said, when the Government in 1934-35 moved to increase the air force. Germany's subsequent denunciation of the Versailles Treaty and the Italo-Ethiopian War finally convinced the British public of the need for rearmament, he said.

You cannot go two ways at once

Far up in the heart of the Rockies, the Great Divide marks the parting of the mountain waters—sending one stream flowing towards the blue Pacific, another towards the broad Atlantic. And it is a symbol of human destiny.

For we all come at some time or other to the parting of the ways—we are forced to face our future years. Shall we journey through life in the confident assurance that financial independence awaits our later days, or will we trudge the shadowed way of vague self-promises and of insubstantial hopes? The decision rests with ourselves alone.

Under the LIVING PROTECTION plan of Investors Syndicate, even a small sum put away regularly grows, in time, into a sizable little fortune. A payment of $10.50 monthly will, under this time-tested plan, return to you $2,500 in 180 months. Of course, larger payments produce relatively larger sums.

Thousands of Canadian men and women are assuring themselves a future of financial ease under this LIVING PROTECTION plan. They know that Investors Syndicate has always met its obligations promptly on due date, and has invested its funds in the most secure manner.

by the subagency, witness continued. This had been varied.

Mr. Peterson detailed the present staff of the marketing scheme. In addition to three commissioners, there were now nine inspectors, one full-time stenographer and a book-keeper. Four inspectors had been let out for a month after an adverse court ruling on export shipments, but had since been re-engaged. Five inspectors were placed as bridges, one at New Westminster, two in Vancouver, and one on Vancouver Island.

TWO BOARDS

Differences had existed between Interior and Coast vegetable marketing boards as to the right to the Coast market, but these had been ironed out.

TURNOVER $500,000

The turnover on potatoes in Vancouver sales had been $500,000 approximately this year to date, with 11 per cent net for the operation of the scheme and for reaching the growers through advertising, though $700 had been so expended. Radio talks had been tried and criticized, and circulars had been distributed in Chinese characters in the Mainland area.

The board had received no response from Samish growers, after two efforts to hold educational meetings here.

Traveling expenses for the board and inspectors for a twelve-month period had been $4,800.70, and not $5,822.66 as previous witnesses had asserted. The term of the present board would expire in May, next, and would be replaced, through an electoral college system of selecting voting delegates.

PROTECTED CONSUMERS

In 1934, before marketing control, wholesalers had paid from $15 to $17 a ton for potatoes, f.o.b. Vancouver, and had seen this price go down to $7 per ton.

The board paid this year had been $12.80, on a net basis to the grower, f.o.b. Vancouver. The board "could have put $15 more on to the price of potatoes" but had refrained to protect consumers. An advisory committee of civic and other delegates was now under consideration to assist the board, and might be appointed, Mr. Peterson continued.

The board had administered its affairs without political patronage, he continued.

Leslie Gilmour, chairman of the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, said that in 1935, 328,000 sacks of potatoes had been handled on the basis of an average of $17.75 per ton net to the growers, f.o.b. Vancouver. The average for this present year to date was $22.40, and might go higher on the same basis of computation. Farming 330 acres of potatoes himself, Mr. Gilmour denied that he had ever said that it was the object of the scheme to squeeze the small farmer out.

MEMBER CALLED

Harold F. Winch, C.F.C., Vancouver East, was invited to testify, but said he had nothing to add to what he had already said in the House.

To his mind, the marketing scheme had applied a new and improved method of production to the potato, through licenses, lengthened the chain from producer to consumer, and increased the spread.

Rebutting a final point for the day, Mr. Peterson continued that the Snow Agency, drew attention to documents in court proceedings which got out that eleven cars of potatoes had been moved by the provisional marketing board prior to June 4. It was against returns from this source, he said, that the $3,000 advance had been made by his client to that body.

AFTERNOON SITTING

Taking leave to sit while the House itself was in progress, the committee sat for two and a half hours in the afternoon, hearing a number of additional witnesses.

Albert H. Greenwood, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, Vancouver, endorsed the marketing scheme, and urged the committee to recommend that the vegetable board fix prices all down the line, for grower, wholesaler, retailer and consumer. The quality of potatoes sold through the board had improved, though bootlegging in the product still prevented stable market conditions, in his opinion.

Basel Gardom, subpoenaed by the committee in the first place, was offered an opportunity to testify, but said he had nothing to say. He explained the risk of an offer he made as president of the Primary Products Publishing Company to pay for an independent audit of the books of the marketing scheme, and said the offer had not been taken up. As a principle in court proceedings, he resumed today, Mr. Gardom asked to be excused from further attendance, and was.

CREATING "MONOPOLY"

Howard Mitchell, subpoenaed editor of The Financial News, Vancouver, was examined on two articles he had written for his paper, after interviewing a number of growers and others in the Mainland area. He blamed the articles as fair comment, and said his request for an investigation had at least borne some fruit. The marketing system, as he saw it, was leading to the creation of a monopoly, and was reactionary rather than socialist legislation.

"My own view is that we would all be infinitely better off without it, both as producers and consumers," Mr. Mitchell concluded.

The committee continued mounting evidence of the inquiry, including traveling expenses and three days kept in Victoria for witnesses summoned, and voted to release all witnesses as they were heard, with a few exceptions. The position of voluntary witnesses, who are now paying their own costs, was a new development, with the marketing system, as he saw it, was leading to the creation of a monopoly, and was reactionary rather than socialist legislation.

CONTRACT DISCUSSED
Frank Higgins, K.C., returned to the stand to supplement his morning testimony, briefly, in reference to his earlier testimony. Mr. Higgins said he had intended to say that the agency arrangements had not been completed at the time of the advance of $3,000 to the vegetable board by G. H. Snow. The money had been advanced on June 4, 1935, while the written contract between the board and the Snow agency was dated June 20, 1935. The agency had been appointed by the provisional board a month earlier, on May 20, later confirmed by the contract of June 20 with the present board.

Rebutting this, W. T. Straith said the present board did not appoint the Snow agency on June 3, of that year, and that the contract of June 20 merely placed in writing a definite agreement made earlier between the board and the agency. The actual cheque for $3,000 bore the date June 4, the committee was told.

Responding, Mr. Higgins said that when he referred to Mr. Snow in his testimony he referred to the Snow agency as such, and not to the man. Samuel W. Chess, a wholesale produce merchant of Vancouver, the splendid spirit of generosity that had prompted Miss Luard to make such a notable gift to the people of the Province, which had developed from the colonial era in which Captain Luard played such an important part.

CHERISHED POSSESSION
Hon. Dr. Weir in accepting the gift spoke of the pleasure that the gift spoke of on behalf of British Columbia. A soldier's sword was emblematic of a soldier's honor; a most cherished possession, and Miss Luard's splendid contribution would for all time be a cherished keepsake in the archives, and a constant reminder of a great officer and honorable man.

Captain Luard was indeed a soldier who typified in his daily life and conduct all that is regarded as best in the traditions of British officers. He came to British Columbia as an officer in the Royal Engineers under Colonel R. R. Moody, which was in itself a testimonial of his high character and attainments, for the corps was especially selected for the peculiar service required in the new colony. The officers were chosen because of their high personal and professional standards.

HAS HIGH PLACE
The Royal Engineers have a high place in the romantic story of British Columbia. They left an indelible mark on the progress of the times. They were the founders of New Westminster; the surveyors who laid out such significant undertakings as the Cariboo Road and the road from Douglas to Lillooet; they explored and mapped the Cariboo, the Okanagan and Similkameen countries, blazed the trail from Bella Coola to Williams Lake; established a meteorological service and did the first printing on the Mainland, as well as organized other services of great worth to the colony. With many of these difficult undertakings the name of Captain Luard is closely associated.

The addition to the archives of such a fine gift as that made by Miss Luard will link, even more intimately, the association of the Royal Engineers with British Columbia of today—B. A. M.

MISS Luard sends sword of Her Distinguished Father to Collection Here

The archives of British Columbia was enriched yesterday when the sword of Captain H. R. Luard, of the Royal Engineers, was formally presented to Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, by Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., of Vancouver, on behalf of Miss E. M. Luard, daughter of the distinguished soldier, now residing in England.

The presentation was made at a pleasing ceremony in the Provincial Library. Mayor McGeer explained that the sword was transmitted by Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, and both Sir Percy and he were pleased indeed to be associated in such a small way with such a magnificent gift to British Columbia. He expressed his own appreciation, as mayor of Vancouver and as a citizen of British Columbia, of the splendid spirit of generosity that had prompted Miss Luard to make such a notable gift to the people of the Province, which had developed from the colonial era in which Captain Luard played such an important part.

CHERISHED POSSESSION
Hon. Dr. Weir in accepting the gift spoke of the pleasure that the gift spoke of on behalf of British Columbia. A soldier's sword was emblematic of a soldier's honor; a most cherished possession, and Miss Luard's splendid contribution would for all time be a cherished keepsake in the archives, and a constant reminder of a great officer and honorable man.

Captain Luard was indeed a soldier who typified in his daily life and conduct all that is regarded as best in the traditions of British officers. He came to British Columbia as an officer in the Royal Engineers under Colonel R. R. Moody, which was in itself a testimonial of his high character and attainments, for the corps was especially selected for the peculiar service required in the new colony. The officers were chosen because of their high personal and professional standards.

HAS HIGH PLACE
The Royal Engineers have a high place in the romantic story of British Columbia. They left an indelible mark on the progress of the times. They were the founders of New Westminster; the surveyors who laid out such significant undertakings as the Cariboo Road and the road from Douglas to Lillooet; they explored and mapped the Cariboo, the Okanagan and Similkameen countries, blazed the trail from Bella Coola to Williams Lake; established a meteorological service and did the first printing on the Mainland, as well as organized other services of great worth to the colony. With many of these difficult undertakings the name of Captain Luard is closely associated.

The addition to the archives of such a fine gift as that made by Miss Luard will link, even more intimately, the association of the Royal Engineers with British Columbia of today—B. A. M.

Cabinet to Name Board to Confer With Merchants

Direct Contact Between Government and Retailers To Be Established to Discuss Legislation to Curb Unfair Practices in Merchandising in British Columbia—Conference Held

DIRECT contact is to be established between members of the Provincial Cabinet and the British Columbia Provincial Board of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, it was announced here last night following a conference of retailers with the Cabinet earlier in the day.

The arrangements provide for a committee of the Cabinet, and a committee of the retail group to work out legislation for the relief of merchants in the province from unfair practices in merchandising. These committees will be set up to work out legislation for the relief of merchants in the province from unfair practices in merchandising. The delegation, which met the Cabinet at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, consisted of representatives of trade groups in Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo, and was headed by Horace Everett, association vice-president. The brief, on behalf of the retailers, was presented by George R. Matthews, provincial secretary.

Requests for Cabinet Three requests were made, as follows:

1. The passing of a fair trade bill, which would furnish protection to the manufacturer, who would state a minimum resale price of his commodity.

2. The establishment of a department of trade and industry.

3. That, at this session, enabling legislation should be passed, so that when the decision of the Privy Council is handed down, and it is determined whether it is provincial or Federal legislation, the retailers of British Columbia could take action to secure protection without having to wait for another session of the Legislature. This request refers to the amendment to the Criminal Code dealing with unfair competition.

Following the conference, Mr. Matthews stated: "The retailers, being very conscious of their present condition, felt that a definite assurance was forthcoming from the Government, and we were assured by the Premier that all members of the Government recognized the evil effects of loss leaders and the acute condition into which the retailer had been forced, and that they were anxious to provide a remedy."

The Premier recommended the appointment of a Cabinet committee to confer with a committee from our association, and that together they should work out some legislation that would give even more relief than we were requesting at the moment. This will be done immediately."

DEATH CLAIMS W. D. KINNAIRD

Well-Known Tailor Had Resided Here for Fifty Years—Funeral Friday

Walter D. Kinnaird, West Road, Royal Oak, pioneer tailor of Victoria and prominent for years in musical circles, passed away on Tuesday in his seventy-seventh year. He had been a resident of Victoria for fifty years.

He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1859, he came to Toronto as a young man of twenty-one. In 1884, he passed through Victoria on his way to New Westminster, but it was not until 1890 that he became cutter for A. Gilmour, pioneer tailor of Victoria. In 1892 he set up in business near the corner of Johnson and Government Streets.

He was one of the founders of Knox Presbyterian Church in 1891. For nearly fifty years he had been a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, belonging to Lodge No. 2.

He leaves to mourn his loss his widow; one daughter, Miss Marion P. Kinnaird; one brother, David H. Kinnaird, Edinburgh; and his brother-in-law, W. A. Gleason, Vancouver. Funeral services will take place in Knox Presbyterian Church on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. William Allan will officiate and interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery. The services will be held under the Odd Fellows' auspices.

CLAIMS VOTING A CIVIC DUTY

Alderman Andrew McGavin Addresses Knights and Dames of the Thistle

In addressing Knights and Dames of the Thistle at their fifteenth anniversary dinner, held last night in the K. of P. Hall last evening, Alderman Andrew McGavin urged all present to exercise their franchise as a civic duty in the forthcoming election.

It is not sufficient to vote and then hibernate for a year," Alderman McGavin declared. "If your representatives are performing their duties well and faithfully, let them know it. If you can offer wise and useful suggestions for greater efficiency, you would be doing yourselves and your city a valuable service by making them known to the mayor or aldermen," he stated.

"If you find the city government is departing from the straight and narrow course of wise and practical administration, speak before an inevitable crisis arises. Do not let your representatives get into a bad way and steer the city into dangerous waters. Remember it is your duty to preserve or destroy. Be with your city, and of your city," Alderman McGavin advised.

In reviewing the aims, objects and accomplishments of the Knights and Dames of the Thistle, Alderman McGavin declared that the organization was a source of pride and honor to the city.

Those contributing to the concert included: J. McMillan, bagpipe soloist; Mrs. J. B. Dawson, piano; Miss McDonald and J. Thomas, songs; and G. Tate, violin selections. Miss Evelyn Holt was accompanist.

OMINECA SHOULD DRAW TOURISTS

Mark Connelly, M.P.P., Outlines Attraction of Central British Columbia

A new tourist centre in British Columbia was advocated by Mark Connelly, M.P.P., for Omineca, at a meeting of Ward Five Liberals last night.

Although it has received little publicity as a tourist attraction, Mr. Connelly said, the central district of British Columbia, which he represents, is an ideal place for an economical vacation amid beautiful natural surroundings.

The trip through the Cariboo, Omineca and down through Hazelton abounds in scenic attractions. It can either be made by bus or in a private automobile. For the outdoor sportsman, the fishing and hunting are comparable to any other place in the Dominion, the speaker said.

The annual meeting of Ward Five Association will be held on Wednesday, December 2, in the Liberal headquarters. Election of officers for the current year will be held.

It was also announced that tonight's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce, of the Victoria Liberal Association will be open to the public after 8 o'clock. The election of officers will precede the evening's addresses and musical entertainment. Premier Pattullo and Byron Johnson, M.P.P., will be the principal speakers.

No Grant Given Nanaimo Bridge

No Government assistance is being given to the City of Nanaimo in the construction of a new bridge across the ravine that isolates the business section of the community from the residential area. It was stated in the Legislature yesterday in answer to questions by Oliver Phinla, member for Peace River.

Mr. Phinla first asked if the City of Vancouver had been given assistance when the Burrard Street Bridge was built in that city, connecting the West End with Kitsilano. The Minister of Public Works referred him to past public accounts.

Examination of public accounts shows that Vancouver received $100,000 assistance for the Burrard Street Bridge.

LUMBAGO

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

It Causes Discomfort, May Even Lead to Disease

Constipation is not a condition to be treated lightly. Continued neglect of regular habits of elimination may lead to serious resistance. Then there is the actual discomfort. For constipation is one cause of headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Common constipation usually develops when you eat meals that lack sufficient "bulk." Your system fails to get needed internal exercise. Fortunately, today, you have a generous source of effective "bulk" in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass, which gently cleanses the system. This natural laxative food also supplies vitamin B and contains iron.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN often. If not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company as an effective laxative food for constipation. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Premier Speaks To Junior Board From Vancouver

Premier T. D. Pattullo entertained fifty members of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade at dinner in the Empress Hotel, last night, after which the young Mainland business men attended a sitting of the House. On their arrival here in the afternoon, they were met by T. E. Watkins, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, and were later taken on a motor tour of the city by junior chamber members. The party left on the midnight boat.

The visit was arranged by the committee of government affairs of the Vancouver Junior Board of Trade, under the chairmanship of V. B. Williams. Other executives in the party were: Glen McMartin, president; Edwin Orr, secretary; Jack Melville, first vice-president; Hugh Kirkup, second vice-president; and Earl Bennett, director in charge. The party left on the midnight boat.

NEW ROAD POLICY FOR PROVINCE ADVOCATED

Before the advisory board of the British Columbia Farmers' Institutes completed its sittings in the Parliament Buildings yesterday, officers for the coming year were chosen. A. B. Smith, Cranbrook, was re-elected chairman, with R. Blackburn, Prince George, as vice-chairman, and W. J. Bonavia, Victoria, as secretary.

A committee consisting of the chairman, the vice-chairman and W. Harrison, Kamloops, was named to advise the Minister of Agriculture in matters affecting the organization in a revision which he had informed the committee he was about to make regarding the farmers' institutes with the idea of making the organization more beneficial to the membership.

Hon. John Hart Explains Bill For Repairing Buildings Roads and Bridges

"The money will be spent on roads and bridges and public buildings," said Hon. John Hart, Minister of Public Works, last evening when the $50,000 loan bill was under discussion in the Legislature. This answer came in reply to a number of inquiries as to just what was to be done with the money that was being borrowed under the bill. The bill passed its third reading.

R. H. Pooley, K.C., took occasion to criticize the past record of the Liberal Government in the matter of expenditures, and in particular he referred to the Oliver scheme which was so closely associated with a former Liberal Government.

NOT ASHAMED

The Premier intimated that he was not ashamed of his part in the work at Oliver, which had been intended as a means of assisting veterans in their return from the war. There were some 4,000 persons living on the land there now, he said.

Rev. Robert Connell wanted exact figures as to what was to be done with the money that was to be borrowed.

R. W. Bruhn had criticism to offer on mounting indebtedness of the Province. He wished to know where the money was going to get the money and what interest they were going to pay for it. He asked it to come from the Dominion.

BURDEN ON FUTURE

Hugh Savage deemed that it would be better to forego borrowing and not cast the burden on the future generations to pay for it.

Hon. A. Wells Gray said that 4,000 persons were living at Oliver. The Government was elected on a policy of "work and wages," and while the Opposition talked much about work, he had not seen them do anything to assist.

H. E. Winch took exception to the spending of part of the money on Oliver, if that was the intention. It would simply be an attempt to get more men on the land where, he stated, there were too many now, to make a living.

FARMER KILLED BY EXPLOSION

J. A. Jones Meets Sudden Death When Preparing Stumping Charges

DUNCAN, Nov. 18.—James Austin Jones, a farmer in Cherry Point district near Cowichan Bay, was instantly killed this morning about 10:30 o'clock by an explosion in his garage.

Mr. Jones had been engaged in land clearing and was in the garage placing fuses in sticks of stumping powder. It is not known just how the accident happened. The garage in which a number of boxes of stumping powder and a considerable quantity of detonating caps were stored, was completely wrecked.

Dr. H. P. Sloan, Duwamish corner, decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

Mr. Jones had been a resident of the district for about three years, coming here from the Prairies. He had taken up some rough land, had done a quantity of land clearing and had converted the property into an improved farm.

He was a married man, fifty-five years of age. His wife, one son, Robert, and a daughter, Margaret, are at home on the farm. A second daughter is a nurse in Victoria. J. M. Thomas, principal of the Cowichan High School, is a brother-in-law.

LOOK FOR THE TRADE MARK

THE WEEK'S CASUALTIES

Five hundred madrilenos have been killed and 1,200 wounded since the beginning of the week, by insurgent air and land attacks on the city's residential and business sections, semi-official sources said.

Insurgent lines in the northwest were under constant fire or reinforced Governmental artillery and machine-gun nests. Fighting was going on at extremely close quarters.

General Jose M. Nolasco's defense council said there had been no appreciable change in comparative positions. It claimed a Government force which attacked at Carabanchel, scored slight gains.

PARIS, Nov. 18.—France informed political observers said tonight, will not aid the Spanish Government, despite German and Italian recognition of the insurgents, unless Great Britain agrees.

INFORMED QUARTERS SAID FRANCE would adhere to the non-intervention accord for the present.

BOMBERS IN MADRID

MADRID, Nov. 19.—Pacifist aviators, in an early morning raid, dropped at least twelve bombs in the centre of the city today.

One of the bombs landed near the Telephone Building, a highest structure in Madrid—shattering many windows.

Men, women and children from nearby houses rushed into basements. Firemen dashed through the streets in automobiles as smoke and flames rose from several buildings. The raiders flew very low, and the planes could be heard zooming overhead.

As the city's lights were darkened at the first warning of the attack, details of the bombing could not be learned immediately. It was reported, however, that bombs fell on the building of the Leftist newspaper El Liberal, on Anton Martin Square, on Puencarral Street.

Meanwhile the shell-torn capital waited anxiously for strong reinforcements, reported en route here from Barcelona and Valencia, while Government troops fought in the city's northern and western sections to fend off the insurgent onslaught.

Insurgent planes circled overhead last night, dropping rockets at strategic points, apparently to distract the fire of General Jose Vela's artillery.

The insurgent air explosives, artillery shells and airplanes terrified the population; but even greater damage was wrought by small, harmless-looking incendiary bombs, which set fire to the surrounding area.

HONORING A GREAT EVENT

Each year, on the anniversary of the proclamation of the Crown Colony of British Columbia at Fort Langley, Nov. 19, 1858, the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter, Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire celebrates that event and does honor to the memory of Governor James Douglas, the chief figure in the ceremony. In doing so the Lady Douglas Chapter performs a real service to the community, by recalling the colorful traditions of the Province and stimulating further research into the records of the past. As a result of the consistent and sustained efforts of the Lady Douglas Chapter and other organizations interested in the story of the West a new public appreciation of the romance of British Columbia is being developed.

It is fitting that the name of Sir James Douglas, K.C.B., should be associated with this annual event, for no man played a more conspicuous part or contributed more to the early-day development of British Columbia than did that great man. The stature of James Douglas among the men of his time increases as research work uncovers additional evidence of his personal and official conduct. Coming to the service of the fur trade in the wilderness of the Western World as a youth, by study, observation and natural aptitude he stored his mind with such a variety of useful knowledge as to cause astonishment to strangers who had expected to meet with an uneducated and untutored trader. By diligence and constant application to his duties, no matter how disagreeable they might be, he rose rapidly to the highest position in the Hudson's Bay service in the West. When the British Government determined upon the creation of a new colony on the Mainland of what is now British Columbia there was only one man who was considered capable of filling the position of Governor—Douglas. He had already filled a similar post on Vancouver Island.

November 19, 1858, was a high point of Douglas' career, for it marked the end of his days as a factor in the fur trade, and his full-time service to the British Crown. It is a strange anomaly that November 19 was also the date of his greatest disappointment, for exactly eight years after the proclamation of the infant colony at Fort Langley, Vancouver's Island was annexed to British Columbia on November 19, 1866, an event that he regarded with alarm.

The Fort Langley ceremony had been planned to display all the pomp and majesty that circumstances would permit for the purpose of properly impressing the heterogeneous assembly of gold-mad adventurers that composed the population along the Fraser River. The little company of Royal Engineers, lately arrived from England, were to be present in the fort square, while Admiral Baynes was to be attended by officers in dress uniform, representing the might of the British Navy. It would, indeed, have been a colorful spectacle had the plans been carried out as intended. Instead of brilliant sunshine so necessary for such a display, a drizzling rain fell from grey skies, and the ceremony had to be performed in a room in the officers' house at the fort. All those who had come could not be accommodated in the room, but nevertheless the event was of paramount significance. It ended the rule of the Hudson's Bay Company and signaled the advent of Crown authority. It gave to the Colony the laws of Great Britain, and it confirmed the enactments of Douglas prior to that day, when, without legal authority, he had administered the affairs of the country. November 19, 1858, was, indeed, a great day; a day that should be fittingly remembered.

BANKS AND CREDIT

Mr. S. H. Logan, the President of the Canadian Bankers' Association, told, at the annual meeting of that body, what the Canadian banks are doing with their depositors' money. It is a simple tale of plain, straightforward finance. The Federal Government has all the information on the subject, and in a report made on September 30 last, it was shown that the people of Canada have $2,263,000,000 on deposit in the banks. Of this amount the banks have call loans totaling $185,000,000; advances to Government and school districts aggregating $10,000,000, and commercial loans and discounts of $975,000,000. This makes a total of $1,141,000,000. Bank loans are less by $1,122,000,000 than the total of deposits.

The balance is not lying idle in the banks. It is invested in government bonds at interest rates lower than those on current loans. The holdings of government bonds on September 30 last totaled $1,379,000,000, or an amount in excess of the balance of deposits, and this is made up by authorized note circulation, by capital and reserves. It is seen from these figures that banks do not find dependable individual or company borrowers for half the money that is deposited with them. The balance is loaned to the Government, and if it were not the Government would have to find the money elsewhere, and that would be, in some form or other, from the depositors themselves, so that it really amounts to the same thing in the long run.

These are the facts of the banking situation. They are facts that are largely ignored by monetary theorists who believe that the banks create credit. They give credit on the strength of absolute security, and because they have the depositors' money available for that purpose; but it is their duty to safeguard that money so that it may be available whenever demanded. They have a solemn trust in that particular, and were they to betray that trust the financial structure of the country would be injured. The banks are the custodians of the nation's ready money. That they are excellent custodians is illustrated by the way in which they came out of the recent depression, and that, too, illustrates the soundness of the banking law of the Dominion.

The business of the banks is conducted on far safer and saner lines than the business of any Government in the country. They have been faithful to the trust reposed in them. They operate on well-tested rules of arithmetic. The legends that have been spread about the elasticity of their credit facilities are amusing in the face of the facts of the situation. However, these are the days when people become obsessed with tangential ideas which deviate, in proportion to their enthusiasms, from the broad highway of common sense.

Y.W.C.A.'S SPHERE OF USEFULNESS

There are a multitude of good purposes served by the Young Women's Christian Association, the local branch of which is now engaged on a campaign to raise $5,000 for its needs. Primarily its object is to provide a wayside station or refuge for those girls and young women in the case of their need. It does a great deal more. It brings interest into the lives of those who are down on their luck and discouraged, and it does this through the medium of clubs, and recreational and educational classes. Thus it has the privilege of making good citizens, in assisting many to take their part in the struggle of life, even by finding them occupations where possible. Moreover, it sees that new arrivals to the city who need advice and assistance are welcomed as friends and not as strangers. These are but a few of its activities, for as an agency for benefit it has many ramifications, and all have led to appreciation and gratitude from those who have felt its influence.

An organization of this character commands public support by virtue of its usefulness. It can appeal for what it needs to fulfill its self-assigned duties with the utmost confidence, strong in the belief of the good it is doing in the community. That support has never been lacking in the past whenever the need has arisen. It should be forthcoming now as a popular tribute to those workers in the cause who deserve every encouragement from their fellow-citizens.

Emil Ludwig, the biographer, recognizes Napoleon as a maker of history, but he recognizes his limitations as well. He admits that the Corsican made his mark as a General, not as a talker. The dictators of today are talkers, and it is for that reason that M. Ludwig has no intention of writing their biographies, for he says that the attempts of the dictators, "who, by writing books, think they can set themselves up as men of brains as well as men of action, have fallen far short of their objectives." He does not think that the modern dictators are makers of history.

THE IMAGE-MAKER

I carved a girl of moonstone
And gave her my delight;
Secure in her affections
My heart slept sound at night.

Sometimes I'd serenade her
With the sweet sharp thim
Pluckings of a zither
Or a red mandolin;

For hours with fingers sliding
Among the strings, I'd sit,
She did not praise my music,
But never scolded I.

Sometimes I'd bring her armful
Of white streaked with rose—
Heavy-petalled tulip,
As bright bloom as grows

I'd heap them into vases
Of brown and buff clay;
She did not take my offerings,
But never said they nay.

Now that I'm growing older,
With sudden serpent-dart
A mood I had not thought for Strikes fangs into my heart

And I could seek with weeping
What I have never known—
A gentler human beauty
Than this I carved in stone.

I'll take a dimpled sweetheart
From tottering Greece or Troy;
And she will give me roses,
But she will give me joy.

—Yet let me not reproach her
Who had my morning years;
She could not give me laughter,
But never gave me tears.

—Audrey Alexander-Brown.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

For the intelligence and discrimination they display, it is a pity that the life of our canine friends is so short relative. I like the approach a dog makes to his life, the ready acceptance of the world as it is, and, particularly, contentment with his lot and station.

In many years of fairly close observation, I have never known a dog to be at serious fault in his estimation of human beings, and that applies to all members of the species. There is an alertness at meeting strangers, an instant appraisal of the friendly or hostile reception he is likely to receive, that can point only to a quick wit and a sound judgment.

Much has been, and a great deal more can be said about a dog's unswerving attachment to his master, or, as I like to think of it, to his closest friend. Now, here is a loyalty that depends not upon comfort, worldly possessions, nor even physical safety; it is loyalty under any and all conditions, even unto death. Test men by that standard, and would they seem superior?

I like, too, the way in which a dog waits upon his turn. He will not insist upon being served first at the family board; nor will he chide or complain if he be left out unwittingly in the cold and the rain. The dog is an entirely reasonable animal, with a finer instinct in most practical affairs than have those who set themselves up to be his natural master.

Let it not be thought that dogs are without character. There are some I know that show evidence of a highly developed character, as moral as most human beings, and decidedly superior in their innate sense of what is truly fitting.

There are, too, loose, idle and disorderly dogs; lank, raw-boned and disolute dogs; long, rangy and chase-birds-out-season dogs. But these are merely the black sheep of the canine fold; and even such as they have an inner sense that is loyal to some person, and to some place that they call home.

I watched a scotty dog get on the street car the other day on leash, though he need not have been, for never was there a more orderly individual, or one better behaved. His bristly brow lifted to shield the most understanding pair of eyes you could wish to see.

The scotty surveyed the passengers; formed lightning-fast estimates of their weight in his world, and settled down to endure, albeit with hurt dignity, the rolling and pinching of this rattling, jolting thing upon which man travels. But, I hold no brief for one dog over another. I like them all.

I have watched dogs grow up as pets to children, romping, bounding, bousierous friends with wagging tails and joyous barks, at play. I have seen them grieving over the cut finger of a child, or waiting, immobile, at the bedside of some little sufferer. Theirs is a sympathy that is patient, and needs no words and no explanation.

Once, I saw a dog stand guard over the resting place of his master, when I knew that that vigil would be a long, long one in vain. I and others, tried to coax him away; to interpose him in new things; to win his fresh allegiance, so that he might live. But it was without success. The dog pined, and in a very little while, he, too, had a resting place close beside that of his absent friend.

I have seen dogs on more joyous occasions. I have watched them as they tried to adjust themselves to a new playmate in the home, a new place at the board, and a new voice in their world. There is a momentary jealousy; but it passes fast, and the sun in their Heaven shines brightly once again. They accepted life as they find it.

Man, one must be convinced, could learn much from the humble, four-footed companion he calls a dog. If only he could understand all that goes on in that bony skull, behind those mild and fearless eyes. There is expression and meaning in every line of a dog's face. There is significance in every slightest twist of his head. There is loyalty in every such of that body, whether he be white, brown, black or non-descript and without a name at all.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of November 18, 1886.

On the 18th inst. the select social club of the Olympic Club at the Theatre Royal and all the members of the club were present at the annual meeting of the club. The club is a very old one, and has been in existence for many years. It is a very exclusive club, and only a few people are allowed to join it. The club is very rich, and has many valuable possessions. It is a very important club, and its members are very influential in the community.

At the meeting of the Y.M.C.A. at the Victoria Hotel, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, J. P. A. [Name]; Vice-President, J. P. A. [Name]; Secretary, J. P. A. [Name]; Treasurer, J. P. A. [Name]; and other officers. The meeting was very successful, and many resolutions were passed.

The Y.M.C.A. is a very important organization, and its members are very active in the community. They are doing many good deeds, and are helping to make the world a better place. The Y.M.C.A. is a very proud organization, and its members are very proud of it.

Y.W.C.A. Campaign Progressing Well Toward $5,000 Aim

Canvass of Two and One-Half Days Results in Cash Subscriptions Totalling $1,545.50, Reports Show—Dean Quainton Addresses Workers

CHARACTERIZED as a "pep" talk, the short address given by Dean Quainton to the canvassers and other workers in the Young Women's Christian Association finance campaign yesterday afternoon had good measure of practical advice and suggestions for their use throughout the remainder of the week, which, to date, has resulted in cash collections of $1,545.50.

The first of the five points emphasized was that to be effective in their approach to would-be subscribers, canvassers should first of all themselves give something more than just their time. Be it ever so modest an amount, the subscription would help them to speak with greater candor, force and sincerity.

The second point was perseverance. People often had very real line-of-least resistance in their canvassing, and suggested that they seek out some of the well-to-do round the bridge tables, at the golf course and elsewhere, where they might be overlooked. An enthusiastic belief in the cause for which they were working—and the Y.W.C.A. was well worth helping—would do much to give them driving power in their task.

FINANCES MOUNTING

Immediately following the dean's talk, the teams reported the results of the canvass to date, showing a total of $1,580 pledged by 211 subscribers, and of this amount, $1,545.50 has already been paid in cash.

"A" Division, of which Mrs. Richard Felton is captain, was the first to report, cash collected being as follows: Mrs. E. P. Fox's team, $40; Mrs. J. Walker, $38.50; Mrs. Norah L. Wallace, $67; Mrs. Helen Hamilton, $78.50.

"B" Division, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. J. M. Paterson's team, $48; Mrs. E. W. Hetherington, $81.50; Mrs. A. W. McKenzie, $43; Mrs. J. L. M. Anderson, $55.

Miscellaneous, Mrs. R. Angus, $72. Special names, Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, $1,070.

TEA SERVED

Preceding the business part of the programme, the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. Gunning is convener, served tea in the lounge to about forty of the canvassers and other workers. The table was attractively decorated with a big bowl of bronze, yellow and rust-colored chrysanthemums given by Miss Agnes Spencer, and presiding at the urns were Mrs. D. M. Duncan and Miss Agnes Spencer.

During the afternoon, Mrs. Roy Angus, chairman of the campaign committee, read messages of good wishes from Mrs. T. D. Pattullo, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, the directors of the

SEEKS SEAT ON CITY COUNCIL

Alex Peden Is Candidate for Alderman—Entered Civic Affairs in 1911

ALEX PEDEN

Alex Peden, a former member of the City Council, who made his first entry into civic affairs in 1911, announced last evening he would seek election as an alderman on December 10. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Peden was the youngest member of the council, a record which he held for a number of years.

Mr. Peden was a member of the City Council for ten years, a school trustee for six years, and a police commissioner for one term in 1920. While an alderman he was a member of every committee named by the respective mayors. In 1918 he was a moving factor in reorganization of the health department under Dr. A. G. Price. He was also instrumental in having work started on the Ross Bay sea wall and the marine drive around Victoria's waterfront. His many activities included organization of the present relief department and the drawing up of modern traffic regulations. In 1918, he was appointed a licence commissioner by the Provincial Government.

In discussing his candidature, Mr. Peden stated he was interested in future city construction work being paid for by fair day wages instead of being undertaken by relief labor. He believed such a policy would result in many being able to leave relief rolls and re-establish themselves again. If elected to the City Council, he said he planned to give as much of his time and attention to civic problems as he had during the past.

ATLANTIC STORMS TAKE HEAVY TOLL FROM TWEEDBANK

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (A.P.)—Favored by less tempestuous seas, which took the lives of her captain and two members of her crew, the freighter Tweedbank proceeded toward Boston today. With her arrival scheduled for Friday morning, New York agents of the vessel's owners were advised today.

The skipper of the ship, named MacKenzie, lost his life and two men were washed overboard as Atlantic storms buffeted the vessel, radio advisors said yesterday. Nearby vessels were asked to "keep sharp lookout" for the men washed overboard.

NOMINEES SELECTED

Fred G. Eaton Choice of Esquimalt Ratepayers' Body for Reeve

The Esquimalt municipal election campaign got under way last night when the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association nominated its slate of candidates for the January polls.

Councillor Fred G. Eaton who this year retires from the council, was the unanimous choice of the meeting for re-election. Councillor Eaton did not immediately accept the candidacy, but requested two weeks' grace that he might secure the feeling of the association more fully towards his candidature.

For the council, three seats which will be vacated this year, the association nominated Benjamin Caley, 958 Wollaston Street; Mrs. W. J. Walker, 837 Burdett Avenue; and E. H. Sweeney, Gore Avenue. Two vacancies on the school board will be contested for the association by T. C. Jones and W. J. Dailaway, while F. O. Luscombe, 638 Constance Avenue, was selected as candidate for the police board.

Although making no definite announcement, Reeve Alex Leekley was confidently expected to seek re-election, thus forcing a fight for the reeveship in the municipality. Councillors Albert Heald, T. Harry Hodgson and Fred O. Eason retire from the council this year, and it is expected that Councillor Heald will throw his hat into the ring again in January. Councillor Hodgson an-

A special word of greeting, he talked to them of days in France. At Merthyr Tydfil he stopped to chat with three "Old Centenaries," wearing Mons Stars.

BEHIND THE COUNTER
And the King did his job thoroughly. Hundreds of men gathered at the Merthyr Tydfil Labor Exchange, making reports and collecting unemployment pay. The King stepped behind the counter.

"That's what's wanted. Your Majesty," one man shouted.
The King asked first one man, then another, how long they had been without jobs. Five, nine, ten, eleven years came the replies. "Terrible," said the King to the man with the eleven years' record.

It was for the King a day of grim contrasts in the swiftly-moving scene. The royal route swept from the pleasant countryside with its undulating hills to the monster slagheaps and bleak desolation of the Rhondda Valley.

BRAVE ATTEMPTS
Yet even here brave attempts had been made to lighten the gloom. The poorest quarters were decorated with flags. At one point a girl threw a cluster of flowers at the King.

His Majesty specially asked to see Downais, the blackest spot in Wales. There almost every family is on relief. The King walked amongst the ruins of great industries. All around, standing on broken walls and heaps of broken bricks, men who once filled the works with the clamor of their industry sang their welcome to the King who had come to see for himself what was wrong in his Welsh domain.

VETERANS PARADE
In Rhondda the King saw 1,500 ex-service men lined up on a football field. He was told that it had once been a refuse heap and that unemployed men had soiled for more than a year to level it.

He lunched at Pentresback on produce from the co-operative farm. A group of unemployed men rose from the table where they were eating when he entered a corrugated iron shed. "Sit down," he said, "your lunch will be cold."

GOVERNMENT TO ASSIST VICTORIA

"This year we have roughly $1,200,000 to meet in debt charges. We have not put up sinking fund payments for three years, and for six years we have been refunding serial debentures of one-quarter of a million dollars.

"We have been refunding these debentures, incidentally by buying part of them with sinking funds and selling the rest to the Bank of Montreal.

"The bank has advised us that we are at the end of our credit as far as these capital borrowings are concerned. Our sinking fund won't stand any more draining.

"Gentlemen, if Victoria doesn't get refunding next year, the city will go bankrupt."

PRICING INITIATIVE
The Mayor stated that, in London, bondholders realized the seriousness of Victoria's position, but they were reluctant to take the lead in refunding, fearing that such action would create a precedent that would bring demands from other communities. "They thought that the initiative should be taken in Canada, as the problem was more of a domestic one than otherwise.

At Toronto, bondholders appeared to be sympathetic but would give decided answer after they had made an examination of the city's position. A committee would arrive in Victoria in a few days to make such a survey.

The provisions that had been asked in the bill it was pointed out, were inserted by reason of the fact that the Legislature would prorogue before the answer from the bondholders could be obtained.

AID PROMISED
The Government, however, was not inclined to view such provisional legislation favorably, but would do all that could reasonably be accomplished to avoid default pending the completion of arrangements with the bondholders. The Mayor was told.

On this basis, the refunding sections of the bill were dropped from the measure when it was reported to the Legislature by the municipal committee.

REPORT GEORGE ADE'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 18 (A.P.)—After reporting George Ade improved early today, physicians said tonight his condition was unchanged and that oxygen still was being administered.

Public Gives Generously
To Women's WorkroomMiss Fitz Gibbon Opens Her Home for Annual Shower—Over $100 and Quantities of Materials Are Received

Miss Fitz Gibbon was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home on St. George Street at a shower in aid of the Women's Workroom. The affair was most successful. There was a very generous response to the appeal for materials and the sum of over $100 in cash donations was received. Assisting Miss Fitz Gibbon in receiving was Mrs. L. A. Genge.

The shower was under the general convener'ship of Mrs. Denton Holmes with an energetic committee composed of Mrs. J. W. Gibson, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. Alex Gillespie, Miss Ogilvie, Mrs. Charles Swaine and Mrs. A. H. Pease. Tea was served to the guests and this was supervised by Mrs. Thorpe-Douglas, who was assisted by Mrs. A. R. G. Morton and Mrs. W. P. J. Swerth. Acting Mayor James Adam attended.

ARTICLES DISPLAYED

A stall of charming articles made in the Women's Workroom was in charge of Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Chapin. A beautiful cake made by Miss Rosa Haagen, in the shape of Santa Claus complete with his pack, made of marzipan and sugar, was won by Mrs. David Doug. The doll and bed and dressed doll will be offered as prizes at a later date. The doll, dressed by Miss J. French, has been donated by Mrs. H. B. French. Members of the committee are freshments were served by the social committee.

Business Women's W.A.

St. Martin's young business-woman's branch of the W.A. held its fourth meeting at the home of Mrs. Johnson, Walter Avenue. Plans were made for the Christmas bazaar to be held on November 25 at St.
Martin's Hall, Obed Avenue, from 3 to 6 o'clock. There will be plain and fancy sewing, home cooking and candy stalls. Afternoon tea will also be served.

St. Saviour's Girls' W.A.

The regular meeting of the St.
Saviour's girls' branch of the W.A. was held on November 16 at the home of Mrs. V. Smith with twelve members present. Plans for the coming year were nominated and arrangements were made for the annual meeting to be held December
8 at the home of Mrs. W. Roach.

Victoria Home League

Rev. T. H. McAllister will be the guest-speaker at the weekly meeting for women in the Salvation Army
Citadel, Broad Street, at 8 o'clock this afternoon, under the auspices of the Victoria Home League. All interested women are cordially invited.

Sum of $100 Realized at Silver Tea

The sum of $100 was realized from the annual silver tea held yesterday by the Alumnae of the Royal Jubilee Hospital at the Nurses' Home.

In a few remarks welcoming the guests, Miss Lena Mitchell, director of nursing at the hospital, told of the work which the alumnae is doing. A bursary of $100 is given annually for post-graduate study and Miss Agnes McInnes is the present holder. The alumnae ward in the hospital, which was furnished by the group, is a special charge at Christmas time. Seventy-five per cent of all fees paid in goes into the sick nurses' insurance fund, Miss Mitchell said, and this money is used in cases of prolonged illness. Miss Mitchell was presented with a corsage spray of red roses by the alumnae members.

Miss Rae Kirkendall was the general convener, and the hostesses were Mrs. L. S. V. York, Miss E. J. Herbert, Miss T. Bradshaw, Miss Mitchell, Mrs. W. H. Bullock-Webster and Miss E. Rowland, the president.

PRESENTE AT TEA TABLE

The tea table, spread with a handsome ecru flax cloth and centered with a silver bowl of yellow and mauve chrysanthemums, with lighted tapers at either end, was presided over by Mrs. Hugh Allan, Mrs. B. J. Drake, Mrs. Arthur Aylard and Mrs. J. M. Healy.

There were tables of home-made candy, home cooking and novelties, and a cleverly-arranged fish pond, with an elaborate setting of moss.

She thanked YORKSHIRE RELISH

for the nicest flavored

Veal Croquettes

she ever made

HER veal croquettes were such a success everyone wanted the recipe! The secret was the flavoring—just a dash of Yorkshire Relish.

Nowadays you don't use the herbs and roots your grandmother used to give tasty flavor to cooking. Today you get intriguing flavor simply by using Yorkshire Relish. Add a dash to all your meat dishes—corned beef hash, croquettes, meatloaf, steaks. Yorkshire Relish turns an ordinary meal into an event everyone will enjoy and remember.

A bottle of Yorkshire Relish takes four years to make! 20 carefully selected ingredients—fruits, vegetables, herbs, spices, essences—are measured and blended with test tube accuracy, then allowed to mature for four years to give you this rich, fruity sauce.

In addition to the delicious flavor Yorkshire Relish gives the aromatic herbs and spices it contains are a definite aid to digestion.

RECIPES for Veal Croquettes

1-1/2 cups cold meat finely chopped. Season with salt, pepper, onion, and Yorkshire Relish. Add 2 tablespoons crumbs. Shape into croquettes, roll in flour, egg, and crumbs and fry.

Try its taste before you cook. Try this and see how a dash of Yorkshire Relish can improve your cooking. What flavor! How, yet, even, no other sauce can impart such a delicious flavor to your cooking.

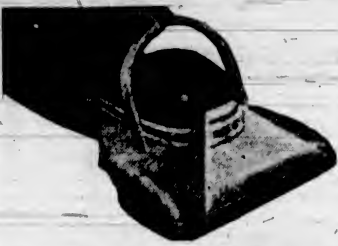

The most delicious sauce in the world

Dr. Wheldon suggests that at least some, if not all forms of arthritis, are due to lack of sulphur in the cartilages of the joint—the hard fibrous tissue that serves as a buffer between the two bones that form the joint. That given a sufficient reserve supply of sulphur in the system to fight off whatever is causing the arthritis, arthritis would not occur. A further point is that whether or not there is a sufficient sulphur reserve depends upon the ability of the small intestine to absorb sulphur from the food (which is being digested) in the small intestine.

Dr. Wheldon describes in detail the method used for over four years—colloid-sulphur dispersed in a protein-free aqueous or water fluidum when injected into the veins, and colloid-sulphur dispersed in olive oil when injected into the huge muscles of the buttocks. These were practically no reactions or upsets from the treatment.

Fifty consecutive cases were set aside for exhaustive study. All of these cases had been treated without success by the usual methods—removing infected teeth, tonsils, or gall bladder, correction of deformity; proper mechanical support; local applications; control of diet; and use of the special vaccine thought advisable for the particular case.

Forty injections into the veins and forty into the muscles of the buttocks were given each patient—three into the veins and three into the muscles each week.

Dr. Wheldon states that among the results noted were: (a) an apparent improvement in the symptoms; (b) a slight rise in the metabolic rate (rate at which body processes work); (c) fall in the blood pressure; (d) a tendency to weight reduction; (e) X-ray examination showed no progress of the disease.

The very favorable results obtained by the use of colloid-sulphur in arthritis by Dr. Wheldon and his associate, Roland J. Main, Ph.D., Richmond, by Dr. B. C. Wolfenden and others, after failure by other methods should stimulate interest in this method.

Thou shalt not Love

by Anna Stow Scarberry

CHAPTER XXIV

Josh wasted no time in rushing through her plan to cut down expenses.

The next day she advertised the house for rent, furnished, in several New York papers. She knew they could get a great deal more, with the furnishings than without them. Besides, they didn't want to sell everything, and storage bills would be terrific.

While Jake, dressed in her most bewitching street clothes, started out to hunt a job as a model in an exclusive shop, Linc and Josh set about looking for a place for the Kelvins to move.

Kel spent every moment he could spare at Suzie's hospital bed, battling to save her from the life of a cripple. Malda, looking like a haunted woman, paced the hospital corridors, begging for a grain of hope. But Dr. Lowell was noncommittal and the nurses, although kind, said it was too soon for anyone to know.

Jocelyn, near collapse from lack of sleep, and the burden of fear that hung over her, found herself leaning almost entirely on Linc and Josh for advice and guidance. It was Linc who read the rent columns and selected the addresses he thought suitable.

Then, armed with a long list they set out in his car to look for new quarters. To Josh, the rents seemed appalling. But after four days of search they finally found a place in Flushing that she thought, quite livable. They would reserve enough of their own things to furnish it when they found a tenant for the house.

She smiled wistfully at the idea of occupying the same bedroom with Jake. Their lives would be so different from then on. The apartment, in a respectable seventy-six family building, had but four rooms and a bath. So it would be necessary to double up.

The long living-room was on a court, and there was a small kitchen with the Dutch dinette. But the two bedrooms were large and airy and the sun would reach them.

almost all day long. Suzie, if she came home, would be with her mother in the largest room at the back.

The room overlooked the playground and the tennis courts. It would be something for Suzie to do, if she shouldn't be able to walk for a while. She could watch the other children at play. Josh planned it that way, because she wouldn't let herself even think there was a possibility that all Kel's work would be in vain. Somehow, he would find a way to cure her.

Josh grew ill with the thought of Suzie's sitting by the window in a wheel-chair, watching other children play all the games she had loved so much. But she told herself, it would be only a matter of time. Some day they would bring Suzie home to the new apartment to convalesce, and put her in a chair overlooking the long sweep of landscape.

The same day Linc and Josh found the apartment. Jake came home to announce that she had found employment. It was with a well-known firm on Fifth Avenue. She had persuaded the management to let her have both a salary and commission. Her blue eyes glowed with excitement at the prospect of trying to inveigle her friends into buying their clothes at the shop.

Josh knew she planned to practically demand that her male admirers bring their women friends and their family to her lair. If Jake made up her mind, she would be quite shameless about it. And she possessed a sense of humor that would help her over any hurdles set up by her pride.

Malda seemed to have no interest whatever in the loss of her house. In the end it was Kel Lowell who rented it for them, a week later. He had gone to see a throat specialist, friend of his and pointed out to him what a splendid location the Jackson Heights address would be, and how much he would save if he took a place where he didn't have to buy furniture.

Mr. Mantle signed a five-year lease at two hundred and fifty dollars a month. It was like release from debtors' prison to the Kelvins. They could pay their rent in the other apartment, and almost pay Suzie's hospital bills, with the rent from their home.

When Josh, putting her pride entirely in her pocket, went over to Kel's house the next evening and told him she wanted to discuss finances with him, he sat down beside her gravely.

"Now you listen." His jaw looked very determined. "If you ever mention money to me again, Jocelyn Kelvins, I'll turn you over to another doctor. I'm your friend, not the family doctor. This is a great experiment with me—a chance to find out just how much we really know about treating infantile paralysis. So as far as I'm concerned, I'll probably end up by feeling I owe you money for having so much faith in me and giving me this opportunity."

Josh put her hesitated a great lump in her throat. "You must let us pay you a little something. It—we don't want to be charity patients."

"Stop it!" He covered her hand with his fingertips. "That's damned nonsense, and I don't expect anything like that from you. So it's settled. Your bills at the hospital will grow larger as time goes on, no doubt. It will take every cent you can scrape up for nurses and treatments. If you can save anything now—do it. It may be years before Suzie is well. I can't promise. I can only do everything humanly possible."

Josh put her hand to her mouth to stop its trembling.

"All right, Kel. I'll do anything you say. But you make me feel as though I'd like to go right out and die for you to show you how much we really appreciate your friendship and what you're doing for Jinx."

"Then come out and have dinner with me somewhere," she said, tiredly. "Let's try to get our minds off things for a few minutes."

"Of course I will." She got up.

PLAZA PRESENTS GAY COMEDY HIT

"It's in the Air" With Jack Benny And Una Merkel Currently Featured

Jack Benny's second starring vehicle, "It's in the Air," appearing for the first time at the Plaza Theatre, shows him in the characterization of a Broadway "chickster," who is only one step ahead of the law, until, by accident, he becomes a national hero through a stratosphere flight into which he has been forced by his estranged wife.

The wife is portrayed by Una Merkel, who incidentally, for the first time in her screen career has a dramatic rather than a comedy role.

Ted Healy plays Benny's sidekick, "It's in the Air," appearing for the first time at the Plaza Theatre, shows him in the characterization of a Broadway "chickster," who is only one step ahead of the law, until, by accident, he becomes a national hero through a stratosphere flight into which he has been forced by his estranged wife.

FINE MUSICAL IS ON ATLAS SCREEN

Dick Powell Plays Leading Role in "Stage Struck"—Backstage Life Is Theme

"Stage Struck" a big and tuneful production, which comes to the Atlas Theatre today, gives for the first time a complete and unvarnished picture of the whole process of not one but two New York musical comedies. This is done interestingly, with plenty of comedy and romance by following the adventures of hero Dick Powell as a Broadway dance director.

The story was written expressly to give the first really true picture of the backstage life of a musical comedy. Now he had found Old Man Coyote's home, and he fully intended that Old Man Coyote should howl no more. So he set traps all about Old Man Coyote's home, and in doing it he took the greatest pains.

Wedding Is Celebrated In England

The marriage took place on October 21, at St. George's Church, Camberley, Surrey, England, between Jess, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gillespie, "The Leasowes," Fairfield Road, Victoria, and Captain George Galsford, of the Royal Tank Corps, only son of the late Captain J. Galsford, formerly of Crofton, B.C., and Mrs. Galsford, England.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Dr. John Todd, Montreal, and wore a brown velvet suit with a gold lame blouse and small brown hat and veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

A number of immediate relatives of the bride and groom attended the service, and later a large reception was held at the Aldershot Club, where Mrs. T. P. Gillespie, a great-aunt of the bride, acted as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Galsford have taken up residence at Bovington Camp, Wareham, Dorset, where the groom's regiment is stationed.

Dean Opens W.A. Bazaar

The various missionary societies of Christ Church Cathedral united in holding a successful Christmas bazaar yesterday afternoon in the Memorial Hall, the sale being opened by Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, who congratulated the women upon their work and wished them every success.

A large number of visitors arrived during the afternoon and were received by Mrs. C. S. Quinlan, Mrs. E. O. Robathan, Mrs. C. W. Brooks and Miss M. R. Lawson, M.B.E.

Christmas Tree

The Yuletide touch was introduced by a large decorated Christmas tree, on which were fascinating parcels tied to the branches, this serving in place of the more usual brain tub or fish pond, without which no bazaar is complete. Miss B. Clowes and Miss D. Brooks were in charge of the tree.

Mrs. C. W. Brooks was general convenor of the bazaar and the various stalls were in charge of the following: Fancerywork and aprons, Senior Evening Branch, Mrs. H. W. Smith and Mrs. D. Mitchell; bag and novelty stall, Senior Evening Branch, Miss M. Sill; woollens, Senior Evening Branch, Miss Fairman and Miss Venables; glass and fancy articles, Business Women's Branch, Miss P. Patt and Miss N. Hensley; fancywork, Girls' Auxiliary, Miss P. McIntosh; candy and home cooking, Mrs. R. H. W. Clowes and Mrs. F. Laughton; miscellaneous articles, James Bay Juniors, Miss D. Colburn.

DOLL DISPLAY

The display of dolls for the doll-dressing competition, under the direction of Miss G. Cheekley, attracted a great deal of attention and a popular vote was taken.

Mrs. Alan Gardiner had charge of a table of literature and members of the A.Y.F.A. sold Christmas cards. Miss O. Hinchins-Smith and Miss Basford played piano and violin selections during the tea hour, tea being served at small tables, prettily decorated with chrysanthemums, and in charge of the Senior Evening Branch and Business Women's Branches.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Farmer Brown's Boy Takes Great Pains—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Old Man Coyote was a stranger to Farmer Brown's Boy. Ever since he had come to the Green Meadows to live he had been very careful that Farmer Brown's Boy should never see him. So while he knew all about Farmer Brown's Boy, for from safe hiding places he had watched him day after day, Farmer Brown's Boy had never seen Old Man Coyote, and what he did know was what he had read. He wouldn't even have known that Old Man Coyote was living on the Green Meadows but for the sound of his growl. Now he had found Old Man Coyote's home, and he fully intended that Old Man Coyote should howl no more. So he set traps all about Old Man Coyote's home, and in doing it he took the greatest pains.

"I've heard that he has a very wonderful nose," said Farmer Brown's Boy, talking to Bowser, who sat watching him "such a wonder that if I should touch one of these traps with my bare hands he would be able to smell me and so be warned. You've got a pretty good nose yourself, Bowser, but I bet he's got a better one than you. So you see I've smoked the traps and I've smoked the gloves I am wearing and I don't see how he is going to smell me, do you?"

Now Old Man Coyote had three doors to his home, and in each of these Farmer Brown's Boy set a trap. A cruel steel-trap with wide-spread jaws to seize Old Man Coyote by a leg. To each trap was attached a chain, and the end of the chain was fastened to a heavy stick of wood. The sticks of wood Farmer Brown's Boy buried just under the surface of the ground, and he sifted the four and dash over the chains and the traps themselves so that they could not be seen. When he was through you never would have guessed that there was anything there. Then just as carefully he set more traps in the little paths by which Old Man Coyote was in the habit of going from and coming to his home.

"Now, Bowser, you'll have to stay away from here or you'll be getting caught your own self," said he as he looked at his completed work with a satisfied air.

Next story: What Old Man Coyote did.

Haggis to Be Piped In at Scottish Ball

November 30, St. Andrew's Day, will be celebrated in Victoria with a ball at the Empress Hotel, and preparations are being made for a typically gala affair such as marks the social calendar each year from Shanghai to Edinburgh, wherever there is a loyal Scot.

During supper at 11 o'clock, pipers in full regalia will precede the haggis, specially made and huge in proportion, which will be borne aloft—followed by two whisky-bottles also carried with due ceremony with strict regard to tradition.

Haggis is the Scottish national dish, as national as England's roast beef and much more antique, eaten with ceremony on occasions of moment.

Officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment and others who proudly wear the kilts will take part in the grand march led by the pipers and the haggis and with such color and ceremony, the ball should be one of the most spectacular held here during the year.

NEW MODELS ON DISPLAY

Chevrolet for 1937 Completely Redesigned With 85-Horse-Power Motor.

The lively performance of the new six-cylinder high-compression valve-in-head engine developing eighty-five horsepower, the comfort of new all-steel bodies of unit-steel construction, and the attractiveness of new speedline styling are three principal characteristics of the Chevrolet lines for 1937, which are being presented to the public today in the showrooms of the Motor House (Victoria), Ltd.

According to Chevrolet's announcement, the new cars have been completely redesigned in chassis and body. This becomes apparent both to the casual observer and the man who takes the wheel. In the general appearance of the cars, with their distinct departure from previous style designs, and in the peppy, confident performance resulting from the application of Chevrolet's engineering genius to the problems of horsepower-weight ratio, safety construction, economy of operation, and luxury of appointment, the new planned 1937 car with its sleek-smooth engine is a landmark in Chevrolet's constant advance.

Two lines are offered, the Master and the Master de Luxe. They are identical in their wheelbase, 112 1/4 inches, in their compact chassis and power plant, in body design and general appearance. Differences are noticeable in spring suspension, body trim and accessory equipment only. The Master Chevrolet, for instance, has semi-elliptic front spring, while the Master de Luxe has knee-action front-wheel springing, improved in certain respects. It is emphasized that while new in almost every detail, both Chevrolet lines for 1937 retain the basic principles which through the years have developed the Chevrolet character.

Both the Master and the Master de Luxe are available in attractive colors in the following models: Five-passenger coach, coach with trunk, sedan with trunk, and business coupe. In addition, the Master de Luxe carries a sport coupe with rumble seat and the Master carries a convertible coupe with rumble seat.

The road manners of the cars, influenced chiefly by the new designs, are such that Chevrolet for 1937 will soon make a name for itself. While scoring heavily in the power department, however, the engineers have not forgotten comfort and safety. The hydraulic brakes have a reassuring, velvet action and the same ease of operation has been applied in every department right down to the new lifting jack, which can be operated from a standing position. Every model has commodious luggage space, either in a trunk or in a compartment behind the seat. As for safety, this has been considered from radiator filler to furt tank.

The bodies, of course, are the great safety feature, with their solid-steel turret top, steel double cowl and steel floor, all assembled into an integral steel structure by welding, without a single bolt, rivet, screw or nail. Doors also are entirely of steel.

Fuel tank fillers on the 1937 Chevrolet have been relocated to extend through the right rear fender. With crankcase, radiator fillers and batteries also placed on the right side, all ordinary supply operations are thus performed from the curb side of the car. These changes are regarded as highly important from a safety standpoint.

YOUTH AT ALBERTA ESCAPES BY KILLING HUGO OCTOPUS WITH SHOTGUN

PORT ALBERTA, Nov. 18.—A fifteen-foot octopus was being examined by Port Albert residents today, and Fred Schwarz, sixteen, can thank four loads of birdshot for his escape from the octopus.

Hunting at the mouth of Somers River, near here, on Saturday, Fred shot a duck. He waited until the bird disappeared. He saw it had been dragged under by the octopus.

A moment later the giant squid propelled itself toward him. Fred fired three barrels of his shotgun at its head, without effect. Hastily reloading, he killed the octopus with two more shots.

With a companion's help, he had dragged his quarry ashore, and carried it to a barn.

Llford vs. Reading.
Clapton Orient vs. Torquay United.
Swindon Town vs. Dulwich Hamlet.
Dartford vs. Peterborough United.

A.A.U. MEETING STARTS TODAY

Important Discussions Will Be Placed Before Regina Gathering

REGINA, Nov. 18.—Proposals to permit mingling of professional and amateur athletes to a far greater extent than the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada (A.A.U.) provides are under consideration tonight on the eve of the union's fortieth annual meeting.

Delegates from all parts of the Dominion will attend opening session of the three-day meeting tomorrow. The official Eastern contingent is scheduled to arrive tomorrow. Delegates to the Women's Athletic Federation meeting concluded yesterday, are remaining for the senior gathering.

Canadian Amateur Hockey Association proposals to broaden the amateur code were expected to provide the fireworks. They would permit payment of athletes for time lost from work while competing, capitalization of athletic ability in obtaining employment, participation of professionals in one sport as amateurs in another, and games between amateur and professional teams.

Strong opposition was certain to come from A.A.U. officials, particularly those from Eastern branches. A chief opponent is W. A. Fry, of Dunville, Ont., who retires this year as president. Mr. Fry contends adoption of the "four-point" proposals would bar Canada from international competition, including Olympic games.

Another controversial issue is expected to be the Central Ontario branch's suggestion the Horton H. Crow Memorial award to the year's outstanding athlete in Canada be confined to men. Last year Aileen Meagher, Halifax city sprinter, received the honor.

NANAIMO CAGE TEAM TRIUMPHS

DUNCAN, Nov. 18.—Nanaimo seniors were victors by a one-point margin over Duncan All-Stars in a crucial Winter Cup basketball fixture here. The score was 17-16. At half-time the score stood at 11-4 for the visitors. The All-Stars are now faced by the necessity of beating the Nanaimo club on their own stamping grounds, to remain in the running.

Two other games on the card were won by the home teams. Duncan B.P.O.E. girls defeated Chemainus girls 22-13 in an intermediate game. Duncan won from Nanaimo 25-4. Timothy McElroy and Stouffer were the referees. The teams follow:

Nanaimo Seniors—Brown 1, Walcott 2, Hope 3, Robinson, Baker, Stock, McDougall 4, Houston 6.
Duncan All-Stars—Bonner, Collier 8, Smylie 4, Jack-Pitt, Whan, Simpson 1, Tai, Mottishaw 3.
Chemainus Girls—G. Work, H. Work, J. Lang, V. Laidlaw, P. Bull, P. Emish 2, V. Wylie 1, L. Cyril.

Duncan B.P.O.E.—J. Buckham 16, H. Harrison 2, L. Colk, R. Smith 1, Woodward, G. Martin, L. Cowan 4.
Duncan Intermediate—B. Van Norman 4, Pres 1, Jaynes 2, Thorpe 4, Malins 1, Mann 2, Spears, Chas. Weicker, Robertson 4.
Nanaimo Intermediate—B. Rafter, R. Baker 2, W. Manson 3, R. Manson, Pashley 2, Cooper 2.

RUSSELL AND MCINTYRE IN RETURN BOUT

Chicago Wrestler Will Meet Scottish Heavyweight Saturday Evening

Rebel Russell, game Chicago youngster, and Donald McIntyre, Scottish heavyweight, will return to the Tillium gymnasium on Saturday evening. They were booked yesterday for a return match and will appear in the double-main event being presented by Promoter Fred Richardson.

McIntyre and Russell grappled to a one-fall draw last week in a pleasing, entertaining match that was productive of clever, heavy wrestling. The sturdy Scot was not exactly pleased with the outcome and immediately sought a rematch.

Russell, smaller than McIntyre, is a game, smart youngster, and in his last match made things interesting for his opponent. He was on the receiving end most of the time, but certainly surprised the careful and businesslike McIntyre when he slipped on the Indian deathlock to gain the initial fall of the bout.

For the other half of the double bill, the local promoter hopes to secure the services of two leading heavyweights. The usual special event and the local preliminary will complete the card.

Neusel Outpoints Foord in England

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Walter Neusel, German heavyweight, outpointed Ben Foord, British Empire champion from South Africa, tonight in a fifteen-round fight.

The Duke of Gloucester and Max Schmeling attended.

JUVENILE SOCCER

Juvenile soccer fixtures carded Saturday follow:

First Division
Britannia Branch Cubs vs. Wimp's Capitals, Heywood Avenue, referee, D. Swan.

Second Division
Esquimalt Meat Market vs. Stragberry Vale, Bullen Park, referee, W. Coutts.

Fourth Division
Esquimalt Meat Market vs. Blue Birds, Victoria West Park, referee, L. Knapp.
St. Louis College vs. Victoria Athletic, Royal Athletic Park, referee, E. Berde.
Oak Bay Ramblers vs. Oaklands Aces, Oak Bay Park, referee, C. Resall.

Kick-offs at 10:30 o'clock.

Topping Is Caused by Straightening of Body

Common Error During the Swing Chief Reason For Poor Shots in Golf, States Little—Explains Cure of Fault and Gives Advice

By LAWSON LITTLE

Probably the most frequent and serious error of all found in the beginner is the straightening of his body at some point during his golf swing. This error is particularly prominent with our women beginners. I have seen any number of them hitting shots from the practice tee for hours, straightening their body on the backswing and then ducking into the ball on the way down. Each stroke seems almost identical, and it seems a shame to me that so much good effort is largely wasted and not applied correctly so that fast progress could be made.

Not only do women suffer from this error, but practically all golfers. The straightening of the body on the backswing does not necessarily cause topping, but rather causes the swing to be one resembling the stroke one would use chopping wood with an axe. This is the cause for skying the ball. Skying the ball is hitting the ball high in the air like a pop fly. Frequently the point of the ball is left on top of the club when this type of shot is hit.

Raising up on the downswing is the cause for topping. If one lifts his body up as the club comes on toward the ball, the club is raised up from the ball and there is great chance that the ball will be topped. The actual cause is that the distance the club has to reach is increased by this straightening of the body, so the ball is either topped or hit off the toe of the club.

CORRECTING THE FAULT

The corrective: To prevent lifting, either in the backswing or in the forward swing, the method is fairly simple and practically the same. First, the backswing should be well understood. It is generally considered correct to start the swing from a crotch point, such as the hips. The motion of the hips in the backswing is a turning to the right. The arms, hands and thus the clubhead naturally follow the turn of the hips. The club is started back in a broad low sweep. There is no tendency for lifting the club either with the left arm or hands. Now if the backswing is made in this way, there will be no lifting or straightening of the body to speak of.

The first movement of the downswing is the turning to the left of the left hip, in other words, an unwinding of the hips. This immediately puts the left foot on the ground where it should stay for the remainder of the golf stroke. As the left hip is turned to the left and out of the way of the stroke, the left arm pulls the club on down toward the ball, then when the hands have returned to a waist-high position, the hands come into play and with the uncoiling of the wrists deliver a power punch to the ball. Throughout the swing, the player should stay down to the ball. Staying down to the ball is merely the converse of don't lift up.

Now that the several fundamentals of the back and forward swing have been explained, a few guards should be built up to protect the player against either swaying or lifting. The player should visualize this turning motion that is present in the proper golf stroke, then find the best thing upon which to concentrate to keep him in the proper L-swing.

KEEPING CURVATURE

When one stands at the ball in the act of addressing it there is a bend forward at the waist. This is called the angle of curvature of the body. The amount of bend is determined by how much the player crouches and reaches for the ball. This angle varies a great deal when the different strokes are studied, but the angle should not vary throughout the swing. In other words, the player leans slightly toward the ball at all times throughout the swing.

At the top of his backswing the swing is facing the ball, but the amount of bend toward the ball is the same as at the address. The same is true at impact and at the

OLD BOYS CAPTURE ANNUAL RUGBY GAME

Fielding a well-balanced fifteen, which included several "rep" players, Brentwood Old Boys defeated the school, 16-13, in the annual Rugby fixture played recently at Brentwood.

With the score deadlocked at 8-8 at the rest interval, the former students drove over for eight points in the final half to their opponents' five.

In the evening the school quintette defeated the Old Boys, 30-14, in the annual basketball fixture.

TRIUMPHS AT ARDMORE

SIDNEY, Nov. 18.—Women members of the Ardmore Club held a nine-hole flag competition during the week. Nine competitors tied off in the competition, and Mrs. W. Sisson carried the flag to the ninth green to win the prize.

With Hockey Champions

VICTORIA FIGHTER PUNCHES OUT CLEAN VERDICT OVER PAHL

Captures Seven Out of Ten Rounds From Calgary Contender at Tillium Gym—Chuck Nickason Scores Technical Kayo in Third—Jones Gains Call Over Ryan in Great Battle

Sonny Buxton, Victoria heavyweight, is still Canadian champion. Battling in defence of his title yesterday evening, at the Tillium Gymnasium—the local glove-thrasher punched his way to a clean-cut triumph over a rugged and game Danny "Punch" Pahl, Calgary fighter, in a good ten-round mix. Buxton weighed 178 pounds, after a light 196 pounds.

Angus ("Scotty") McKay and Jack Leask, the judges, gave Buxton seven rounds and called three even. Referee Louis Callan called seven rounds for the Victoria boy, one (the second) for Pahl, and two even.

Chuck Nickason, Vancouver light-heavyweight, scored a three-round technical kayo over Jerome Lewis, colored Seattle boxer, in the scheduled six-round semi-windup. After the Mainlander had dropped his Sound City opponent four times and administered considerable punishment, "Referee" Callan stopped the bout. Nickason weighed 174 pounds and his opponent 176.

JONES BEATS RYAN

Smiling "Dusty" Jones, Seattle fighter, with a stinging right hand, won the call over Eddie Ryan, Vancouver, in the four-round special event, after a lively mix. The Seattleite dropped his opponent in the third round after an eight count to take the decision by a slight margin. Jones scaled 137 pounds and Ryan 128.

George Haslam, 140-pound local boxer, was given the nod over Leslie Walters, 140 pounds, Victoria, in a four-rounder. The boys mixed freely and wildly at times, and fans enjoyed it. Haslam did most of his fighting in the last round, and when the bell sounded, Walters' face was smeared with blood.

"Scotty" McPherson threw too many gloves for Jim McArthur, and took the curtain-raiser with a three-round technical kayo. They fought at 115 pounds.

A terrific right that oftentimes shook his opponent and greater experience paved the way to victory for Buxton in the Canadian championship bout. The local boy hit the rugged Pahl many times with slinging rights, particularly from the sixth round on, and the game Calgary youngster took it all.

There was little to choose between the boys in the very early rounds. In the fifth, Buxton planted a left to Pahl's right eye, and as the bout progressed the eye gradually closed up.

The bout really warmed up in the sixth session, with Buxton having the advantage. He swung rights to Pahl's head and rocked him under a heavy attack, but the game Calgary boy stood up under it all. After a clinch in the centre of the ring Buxton forced Pahl to a neutral corner to take cover, and when the bell sounded the Calgary boy stumbled to his corner.

HAS BIG EDGE

Buxton continued the attack as the seventh canto opened and administered considerable punishment. Pahl always displaying a fighting heart, rallied and fought

There was a good turnout of fans to witness the show, one of the best seen here for a long time. And the interest and enthusiasm displayed by the patrons certainly augurs well for the future of the padded mitt game.

TABLE TENNIS DRAW IS MADE

City Championships Opens This Evening—Many Matches Carded

Both Vancouver and Seattle will be well represented in the Victoria open table tennis tournament, which opens today night at the Victoria Club rooms. Among the outside entries received are:

Harold Keenleyside of Vancouver, P.N.W. and British Columbia singles champion, and Elwood Martin, of Seattle, only Pacific Coast player to receive national ranking in the United States and holder of the state singles. He will be accompanied by Walter Judd and Ray Pearson, the former being Seattle city champion and the latter Washington State open and Oregon junior champion.

Among the strong entries already received for the doubles are Martin and Pearson, of Seattle, Judd and Wilson, of Seattle, Keenleyside and Brown-Cave, Vancouver, and Victoria city champion, and Tully and Whittingham, Victoria city doubles champions.

Draw follows:

1st—Vic Tully vs. Tom Crombie, W. Whittingham vs. Don McClure, W. Brown-Cave vs. Ray Rieby, Res Wood and Eric Cox vs. Renfrew and Bladen.

2nd—A. McIntyre vs. Tom Chaitell, P. Harding vs. L. Greenwood, C. Lutton vs. A. Renfrew, R. B. Crombie and D. McClure vs. L. Butler and Perkins.

OFFICERS NAMED AT ARDMORE CLUB

SIDNEY, Nov. 17.—The annual meeting of the Ardmore Golf Club was held recently in the clubhouse, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: G. F. Pownall, president; F. A. Baker, vice-president; J. C. Anderson, captain; F. A. Urquhart, vice-captain; J. J. White, honorary auditor; Wilfred T. Sisson, secretary-treasurer; Captain Gibson, P. D. Aher and P. Bodkin, members of the executive.

The club members regretted the withdrawal of J. J. White from the office of president. Mr. White held the office of president for a number of years and has done much to further the good of the club. Due to various other duties, Mr. White would not consider re-election.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Toughest Steel Knife—Frank Ripley, an enterprising and inventive village blacksmith of Clarkson, Nebraska, has perfected a knife of steel which is so hard that he can cut large buggy axles up to an inch and a quarter thick, automobile axles, wagon tires, cold iron steel, heavy horse shoes, farm machinery parts, heavy railroad spikes, track bolts, and most every kind of steel, cast iron and wrought iron. And Believe It or Not, after hammering these knives through these heavy steel and iron pieces, the knife edge is still undamaged and can cut a piece of newspaper. The blade of the knife is exactly like that of an ordinary butcher knife, about 1-1/4 of an inch thick and 1 inch wide.

FAVORITES DEFEATED IN P.G.A. GOLF TOURNEY

Startling Upsets Mark Match Play; Champion Beaten

Johnny Revolta Dethroned in Opening Rounds at Pinehurst Links—Armour, Sarazen and Runyan Eliminated—Tony Manero Wins Great Match at the Twenty-Third Green

Associated Press Sports Writer.
PINEHURST, N.C., Nov. 18 (AP).—The fairways of the Pinehurst Country Club course were covered with star dust today in one of the worst carnages of American golf after two treacherous eighteen-hole rounds of the professional golfers' championship.

One by one, defending champion Johnny Revolta, of Chicago, and three former champions, Gene Sarazen, Paul Runyan and Tommy Armour, all warmly regarded in pre-tournament calculations, were blown out of sight in a series of sharp explosions which left only a few favorites among the sixteen survivors of sixty-four who qualified.

Harold McGspeden, of Winchester, Mass., whose previous claim to fame was victories in the 1935 San Francisco open match play tournament and the seventy-two-hole Pasadena open, trimmed the champion Revolta at the nineteenth after Johnny had butchered Marshall Crichon, of Durham, N.C., 6 and 5, in the first round.

TWO FAVORITES BEATEN
Armour, winner of the title in 1930 and runner-up to Revolta last year at Oklahoma City; Sarazen, champion in 1922-23 and 33, and Runyan, king two years ago, were knocked out in the first round. Armour bowed to Mortie Dutra, of Detroit, 4 and 3; Runyan lost to Clarence Doser, of Rochester, N.Y., 2 and 1, and Sarazen yielded to Jack Patroni, of Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., on the eighteenth green.

But the lambs who slew the butchers didn't last long. They were slaughtered in the afternoon. They were at least two other results in the nature of upsets, second-round victories by Victor Glezzi, of Deal, N.J., one up, over Fay Coleman, of Silver City, Cal., the qualifying medalist, and Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N.Y., 2 and 1, over Ray Mangrum, of Pittsburgh. It was a trying day all the way around for the favorites.

Henry Picard, of Hershey, Pa., who now looms as the man to beat, and Tony Manero, of Greensboro, N.C., reigning United States open champion, passed the severe two-round test.

Picard pulled up from being two down to Leo Malloy through the third hole to beat the Norton, Conn., youngster by that many.

MANERO ADVANCES
Manero, three down to Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Tex., at the seventh, rolled in a twenty-five-footer on the eighteenth for a birdie three to square the match and then a six-footer at the twenty-third to win. In the second round, Picard swamped Alvin (Butch) Krueger, of Beloit, Wis., 5 and 4, while Manero overwhelmed Dutra, 6 and 5.

Tomorrow the sixteen survivors swing into a single round of thirty-six holes with Picard matched against Jimmy Thompson, of Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., winner over Rod Munday, of Santa Rosa, Cal., and Willie Klein, of Williston, N.Y., and Manero meeting Woe Bobby Cruekbank, of Richmond, Va., conqueror of Matt Kowal, of Clayville, N.Y., and Ernie Ball, of Mobile, Ala., in the feature match.

ENGLISH SIDE WINS SOCCER FROM IRELAND

Scores 3-1 Decision in International Match Before 40,000 Fans

STOKE, England, Nov. 18 (AP).—A fighting English international soccer team boosted England's stock in representative tilts to a new high today. By a well-deserved 3-1 victory over Ireland, the Englishmen redeemed themselves after an early setback by Wales.

Criticism was general when the Welshmen snatched a 2-1 verdict at Cardiff, October 17, the first international game of the season. Selections went to work and produced a winning combination against the Scottish League in an inter-league match, and still not satisfied, chose four new forwards for this game.

Nearly 40,000 persons flocked to see the first international contest here since 1893, and the sustained high-gear play had the crowd on edge throughout. There was dynamite in most of the thrusts of the English forwards, but the Irish attack lacked finishing power.

TWO FAST GOALS
Two of England's goals were scored after lightning-fast combination efforts, Ireland's counter coming from Davis, resourceful leader of the visitor's front forces, who performs for Oldham Athletic.

Worrall, Portsmouth; Bastin, clever Arsenal star, and Johnson, Stoke City, drew plaudits of the crowd on the attacking line, while Britton and Gee, of Everton, played a dashing game on the defence. Davis shared Ireland's honors with Breen, Belfast Celtic goalkeeper.

It was the ninth successive win over Ireland for the Englishmen, who have captured forty of the fifty-one games played between the two countries. Ireland has fielded winning teams four times, and the remaining seven ended in draws.

NETS OPENING GOAL
After thirty minutes' play a Briton-Worrall-Carter combination was rewarded when the latter headed the ball into the net. Davis wriggled through twelve minutes later to equalize and end first-half scoring.

England's attack had more ginger in the final period, and twenty minutes from time took command and bottled the Irishmen in their own territory. Bastin sent his team in front and Worrall made it 3-1 on a great play with Stoke's stars, Johnson and Steele.

The teams.
England—Goal, Holder (Preston North End); back, Male (Arsenal), Catlip (Sheff Wednes); halfbacks, Britton, Gee (Everton), Keen (Derby County); forwards, Worrall (Portsmouth), Carter (Sunderland), Steele (Stoke City), Bastin (Arsenal), Johnson (Stoke City).

Ireland—Goal, Breen (Belfast Celtic); backs, Cook (Everton), Pulton (Belfast Celtic); halfbacks, McCullough (Manchester City), Jones (Hibernians), Mitchell (Chelsea), forwards, Brown (Coventry), Thistle (Stoke), Doherty (Manchester City), Kelly (Derby City).

Betting Favors Jimmy To Defeat Lou Ambers

Vancouver Belter Rules 9-to-5 Choice to Capture Decision From Lightweight Champion on Friday Night at Madison Square

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP).—Jimmy McLarnin tonight ruled the betting favorite for his ten-round bout with Lou Ambers, lightweight champion, at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Even though Father Time is hard on the heels of the Vancouver belter, the fastidious fighter still respects his right-hand wallop and have made him the 9 to 5 choice.

The fighters have concluded training. Jimmy smacking his sparring mates around in a Manhattan gymnasium, while Ambers conditioned himself at Summit, N.J. Both appeared in fine fettle but McLarnin looked to be in better form than when he was preparing for some of his recent tilts.

"I knew my legs were not as strong as they should be when I fought Rose the last time and when I met Cazanoveri the first time," Jimmy said today. "So to strengthen them I have been doing extensive roadwork in Central Park during the early morning hours."

LEGS IN SHAPE
"After my workouts I have not been the least bit tired and I feel in better shape than I have during the last three years—that is physically—but my golf is away off," he added with a grin. "Out West I shot in the 70's but when I come East and start training hard my score jumps into the 90's."

Manager Pop Foster claims McLarnin is the best fighter in the country today. He has been going about his work with an eagerness he has not shown in years. I think he will take Ambers handily."

The champion's camp followers, however, claim they are not worrying at all about Jimmy's punishing right mitt. Ambers' youth and speed will enable him to outspeed and outlast the aging Canuck, they claim, even though the latter will enter the ring with a weight advantage of seven or eight pounds.

Lake Quintette Scores Victory
SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Nov. 18.—In an exciting close-scoring tussle in the Wenger Cup series, held here on Monday night, the Shawnigan girls downed the Nanaimo "Redettes" by a lone basket.

Spencers Take Over Lead in Wednesday League by Easy Win

Defeat James Bay Wanderers, 5-1, to Gain Possession of Top Place—Longshoremen Turn Back Hudson's Bay—Garrison-Navy Draw

Yesterday's Results
Spencers 5, James Bay Wanderers 1.
Victoria Longshoremen 8, Hudson's Bay 2.
Garrison 1, Navy 1.

Trouncing the James Bay Wanderers 5-1, yesterday afternoon, in a mediocre exhibition at the Heywood Avenue grounds, a rugged, fighting Spencers soccer eleven climbed back into first place in the Hayward Cup race, one point in front of the Hudson's Bay, former leaders.

Victoria Longshoremen made it possible for the Diamond "S" boys to assume the leadership when they eked out a 3-2 triumph over the Bays at the Royal Athletic Park. It was the first setback of the season for the cup holders, and one of the major upsets in the current race for the silverware.

Down at the Admirals Road ground, Esquimalt, the Navy and the Garrison battled to a 1-1 draw. All of the scoring was done in the initial stanza.

BAYS GO UNDER
Making more of their scoring opportunities, Victoria Longshoremen came through with a 3-2 triumph over the Hudson's Bay at the enclosure. The eventual winners set up a 1-0 lead in the first half and widened it to 3-0 late in the final canto before the Bays finally ran in two goals.

Harry Holmes, right winger for the Victoria Longshoremen, garnered the only tally of the first session when he took Hall's pass from the opposite lane and beat Joe Travis, Hudson's Bay goalie, from close range. Travis slipped as he went to make the save and was unable to handle the shot.

Hudson's Bay made many dangerous attacks on their opponents' goal during the half but the backs, and particularly Ken Fleming in goal, were safe. Fleming, as nimble as a cat, saved many shots that were labelled for the net.

At the other end of the field, Gordon Roskamp, Longshoremen's centre forward, passed up a perfect scoring opportunity when he put the ball to Travis when only feet from the goal. Minutes later, Holmes, in close quarters, made a great attempt to score, but his shot was blocked.

APPLY PRESSURE
Hudson's Bay put on the pressure following the breather and only for the smart work of the elusive Ken Fleming would have equalized in the early minutes.

Breaking fast the Victoria Longshoremen made it 2-0 when Harry Holmes took Roskamp's pass, moved in close to the goal and scored with a ground shot to the far corner of the net.

Bays came right back and again Fleming was on his toes. Seconds later Oakman, Preston and McLellan missed an open goal.

Victoria Longshoremen made it 3-0 when "Scotty" Magee scored on a C.I. flying kick against McConnell for fouling Holmes.

Fifteen minutes before the final and Les Gelling met a first-timer and crashed it to the top of the net. Play went back and forth for the rest of the half, with neither goalie having very much to do as both forward lines were shooting and kicking wildly.

BREAKS DEADLOCK
The stormer soon broke the deadlock early in the second half when Wally Stewart raced in fast from the left, picked up a pass from Collins, and scored with the goalie at his mercy. Soon after, Les Bradley widened the gap when his long shot from a difficult angle and well outside the penalty strip went over Goalie Saddle's head into the far top corner of the net.

Spencers kept up the pressure and were staging numerous runs on the Wanderers' goal, and it wasn't long before they had chalked up another marker. This time Art Chapman scoring on an opening made by "Shorty" Collins.

Joe Obee refereed and teams followed.

Spencers—Stewartson, McMillan, Cann, L. Bradley, Moir, D. Bradley, Brown, Bisset, Chapman, Collins and Stewart.

Wanderers—Saddler, White, Coates, Knapp, Smith, W. Saddler, Glancy, Hood, Blanco, Gelling and Ball.

Soccer Activities

A workout of the Saanich Thistles first and second division football teams will be held this evening at the Gorge at 8 o'clock. All players are asked to attend.

LOCAL CAGERS WIN

Dropping in basket after basket at a terrific clip, Meta United cage squad journeyed to Cobble Hill recently and returned with an 86-25 decision over the home squad. The local boys were far too strong for the Up-Island lads, and were leading at the interval, 54-10.

Teams follow:
Meta United—Myra (3), Ross (30), Mason (10), Finalson (16), Coates (8), Belkirk, Garrison (2), Humber (12), Hartnet, Cobble Hill—Bonnet, (6), Taggart (4), Whittaker, Reason (8), Dyson, Weber, Watson (7).

Y.M.C.A. ENTERTAINS

Over fifty members and friends of the Y.M.C.A. and the Pacific Swimming Clubs were guests of the former organization at a very successful swimming party in the Y.M.C.A. last evening. Following a swim in the pool, the young men and women enjoyed refreshments and later dancing in the gymnasium.

COOK-GENERAL OR HOUSEKEEPER

COOK-GENERAL OR HOUSEKEEPER

THE TUTTS ... By Crawford Young

A Reading (Penn.) man telephoned a hardware store the other day to order a scythe.

"Size?" asked the clerk who took the telephone call.

"Not size," the man replied, "scythe."

"Yes, yes, I can hear you," the salesman said. "What size?"

"No, no, no," the customer yelled. "Not size, not size, but scythe—scythe. You know what a scythe is, don't you? A grass cutter."

Jane Dixon Says:

HERE IS AN ANSWER TO "GREGORY," THE EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL, WHO IS A RESPECTED MEMBER OF SOCIETY WHILE SECRETLY BEING INVOLVED IN A LOVE AFFAIR WITH TWO MARRIED MEN.

Today we shall try to answer "Gregory." Gregory is still in her teens, bordering on her twenties. She is a high school graduate. She holds a certificate from a business school. She has a good position.

We quote her to the effect that she is "pretty, wears stunning clothes, is considered the nicest and sweetest girl in the neighborhood. Also, she is 'very popular,' belongs to the best society."

You wouldn't think such a girl would have trouble being happy, would you?

She holds the golden key to happiness, but she has not been able to use the key because she is in love with two married men.

Both of them, she avers, love her to desperation. They'll do anything for her.

Married man A has several children. But, pooh-pooh for them. She's the only woman in the world for him, and he beseeches her to "run away" where he'll have nothing to do but make "precious" love to her. He's at her command day and night. If he ever sees her with another man he'll kill the scoundrel, and "he means it."

ENTERED HOME IN WIFE'S ABSENCE

Married man B has children, too. Just to show you what he thinks of Gregory, he's taken her to his home in his wife's absence, and she's gone over the whole place, peering where her fancy led. He even drives her past the house when his wife is home. And he introduces her to people along Main Street as "his own sweetheart." He's threatened he'll "tear her to pieces" if he ever sees her with another man.

She wants to know which of these married men is her great love. Shall she go on trying to discover, or shall she try to find a single man? Daddy and mother do not allow her to have dates. They think she's a perfect angel. She asks me do I think this is unfair at her age?

Answer: If your parents knew what you are doing, Gregory, they might be glad to allow you the privileges every normal girl should have.

Certainly, among the three of you—your parents' lack of understanding and your lack of social judgment—you've made quite a mess of it.

What would you think of either of these men if you were his wife, the mother of his children, and discovered that he was a cheat and a defaulter? That he was riding the roads with a light-colored car while you and the children were waiting for him to fulfill the mission he undertook when he became a husband and a father?

AMAZED BY HER ATTITUDE

On some near day one of the other of the wives may catch up with you. She will put you on record—legally, violently, even tragically. You will no longer be the "nice" girl of your community. You will be "that woman," discredited and shamed and shunned.

What amazes me about your attitude, Gregory, is that a young woman of your background and opportunity should be so absolutely without pride or without sensitiveness to decency. You actually boast about going into the home of the wife who is a victim of your deceit, and peering into private corners that should be sacred. You take joy in riding past the home of a husband and father who has no little respect for his obligations, and for you, that he can do such a thing.

Both of these married men and fathers will "pick you up at any hour of the day or night."

Who do you think you are? The modern Helen of Troy. Get that notion out of your head. You're just a fresh young girl, who has intrigued a couple of hunters. Not ethical hunters; either. Poachers.

If either of these men loved you as a clean man loves the one woman in all the world for him, he would protect you from wagging tongues, and never would he make a show of what at the present amounts to a scandal.

Find your single man.

If you had a deep and lasting love for either of the married men, you would know, and there would be no need for asking questions.
